PHILADELPHIA, March 5.—Lenders
of the general strike this afternoon surrounded and peacefully carried out their announced intention of demonstrating to the people of the municipality that they were united and determined.

In the face of prohibition from Mayor Reyburn the men behind the general walk-out movement and the leaders of the striking Carmen marched and counter-marched around Independence Square and when their ranks had been swelled by hundreds of sympathetic followers.

At the head of the procession marched National President Mahon of the Carmen's Union. With the rest of the strike leaders he was given a tremendous ovation.

Estimates of the number of workers on strike varied from 20,000 figure of Director of Public Safety, up to the claim of 75,000 made by the labor leaders.
The latter asserted, moreover, that only a beginning has been made. By tonight, the labor leaders say, thousands more employed in various industries will lay down their tools and Monday will find the city practically tied up.

PHILADELPHIA, March 5.—The general sympathetic strike, the supreme and final effort of organized labor to win the fight of the trolley
men for recognition of their union,
is now in full swing.

In the central part of the city
the first to feel the effect of the order were the users of public hacks and taxicabs. Some of the riders in these vehicles were surprised when the clocks struck midnight by being suddenly informed by their drivers that they would have to walk the remainder of the way. Even the non-union cabbies withdrew from the streets.

Several union trades, however, remained at work, among them the printers, whose committee voted not to join the strike, although many of the job men were anxious to do so.
Philadelphia thus will not be deprived of its newspapers.

The waiters in the fashionable hotels and cafes did not make as strong a showing as had been expected. Although a few walked out, the majority of them continued to wait at tables after midnight.

Fear an Outbreak

More than the 16 up of business,
the authorities fear the thronging of thousands of idle persons on the streets.

A great meeting of organized labor planned for Independence Hall this afternoon "peaceably" to participate in a demonstration in behalf of the Carmen's Union now on strike" has been prohibited by the Mayor because a permit was not applied for to hold the demonstration.

In his proclamation forbidding
the meeting the Mayor reiterated
his proclamation of February 20 calling upon persons using the streets "to observe due care and to make no unnecessary stops thereon, not to loiter upon the streets; not to collect or join in crowds; to make no outeries, nor use insulting language; to peaceably move on about one's business."

The transit company has almost 1000 street cars in operation today, out of a total of more than 2000, but
the cars are not carrying the same number of passengers as on other days of this week.

Number Unknown

The number of men on strike can not be definitely ascertained.

Labor leaders say they will not know until tomorrow or Monday.

Director of Public Safety Clay says not more than 20,000 walked out.

The only claim that the strike leaders will make is that 75,000
workers are out.

Officials at the City Hall and rapid transit representatives conferred at the idea that 75,000 persons had gone out.
They said mills in Kensington were still working, and that such great plants as Baldwin's Camps, the Midvale Steel Works, Brill's Car Works and other large industrial establishments had not been crippled when the shifts of men were changed between midnight and morning. These plants however, are open concerns.

The promise made by Timothy
Healy, representative of the Stationary Plant, to the strikers could not be fulfilled. The power plants apparently were open, and cars were running with ex-

He was district attorney at the time

He is the son-in-law of D. M. Dehans and at one time was mentioned as a candidate for governor.

the late Governor Budd gave Barnes a captain's commission in the volunteers.

NEW COUNTY AUDITOR IS NOT YET SELECTED

Supervisors Carefully Canvass Many Candidates So as to Secure Best Man Possible for Position

Late this afternoon the race for the appointment of County Auditor took a new angle and the name of A. J. Lutgen, an expert accountant of Berkeley, was added to the list of candidates. He is said to have developed unusual strength and the race now appears to have narrowed down to Lutgen, Hedemark and Gompertz. One of these three will probably be the new County Auditor.

Although the Board of Supervisors has plenty of good material from which to select a successor to County Auditor George S. Pierce, at its meeting next Monday, no final decision has as yet been made as to whom of the candidates will be given the office. There are at least a dozen well known men after the plum
but the only ones who seem to have any show in the race are J. C. Hedemark of Berkeley, property expert in the office of the county assessor; W. A. Gompertz of Berkeley, Councilman Harold Everhart, Walter P. Woolsey of Berkeley, E.
F. Garrison, chief deputy city assessor of Oakland, and Walter Fawcett, secretary of the Oakland Board of Public Works.

SEEK THE BEST MAN.

It was given out immediately after the resignation of County Auditor Pierce
from an unofficial source that the appointment would go to Berkeley, but later developments indicate that the supervisors intend to eliminate any geographical consideration with reference to candidates and base their appointment solely upon the merits of the men who want the place. The object is to secure the very best man for the office, regardless of all other considerations. If this person is found in Berkeley, Oakland or any other section of the county the place will go to him.

TO DECIDE BEFORE MONDAY.

It is not impossible that in order to harmonize the Board of Supervisors and satisfy all sections of the county that a "dark horse" may be sprung for the office at the eleventh hour.

This was hinted at today by politicians
who are following the situation closely,
but however the canvass results indications are that an appointee will be decided upon before the Board of Supervisors meets on Monday morning.

IS WOOLSEY THE MAN?

The gossip about the Hall of Records
this forenoon was that Hedemark, Gom-

FIFTY KILLED GARFIELD ON IN ANOTHER STAND IN SNOWSLIDE PINCHOT DISASTER

Men at Work Clearing Road Are Swept to Their Death.

Pinchot's Charge Against Ballinger Favoring Claimants Is Disproved.

VANCOUVER, B. C., March 5.—In a snowslide, early this morning between Rogers Pass station and Glacier
on the line of the Canadian Pacific
in the Rocky mountains, fifty men were killed. All the victims were workmen for the railway company
and more than half of them were Chinese.

The men were a working crew engaged in clearing away a small slide which had come down early in the evening. They were spread out over the slide, working a rotary engine
over it, when a larger slide came down and carried them to their death in the canyon below.

At first it was believed that all of the hundred men engaged were killed,
but in the early morning it was found that many had escaped and the death
list is now placed in the vicinity of fifty.
All passenger trains on the line are safe, though it will probably be day or two before they are able to pass the place where the slide occurred.

Last night was one of the worst
that was ever experienced on the railways of the Canadian Rockies. There was a heavy storm of rain and sleep
and conditions were at their worst.

A storm also occurred in the Arrow lakes. Communication with the east is down. A long section of telegraph line was carried away by the slide.

On Summit of Pass

The accident occurred near a snow-shed one mile west of Rogers pass
and at the actual summit of the Sel-kirks. Seventy-five per cent of the dead were white men, the remainder Japanese. Conductor Vic Buckley and Engineer W. P. Phillips of the work train, headed by a rotary snow plow,
were killed.

As soon as the news reached Revelstoke, the fire bell was sounded and within half an hour a relief train conveying physicians and nurses and more than 200 railway men and other citizens was speeding east to Rogers pass. The scene of the accident was reached at 6 o'clock this morning
when the task of digging in the tangled masses of debris in the hope of finding a few survivors was commenced with vigor.

Calgary made an equally prompt response. It also sent a special relief train. The two trains met at the summit of the pass on Monday morning.

TEVIS OFFERS TO PROVIDE WATER IN YEAR 1911

Declares He May Commence
Constructing of Pipe Lines
Within Four Months.

NO NEW NEGOTIATIONS WITH PEOPLES COMPANY

Engineer Miller of Oakland Is Converted to Project of Bay Cities.

The Bay Cities Water Company may begin the construction of its pipe lines, which will supply water to Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda county within the next four months. Tevis says that he will be ready to supply water to the three cities during 1911.

This is taking the most optimistic view of the situation, as the financial backers of the project believe that no difficulty whatever will be experienced in securing the necessary contracts, which will permit of a supply being furnished to the municipalities on the eastern shore of the San Francisco bay.

President Tevis of the Bay Cities Water Company is enthusiastic over his plan of campaign and has decided absolutely to cooperate with the City Councils of Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley, and is more than ever convinced that his project will meet with favor from all sides.

Mr. Tevis was asked today regarding his negotiations with the Peoples Water Company for the acquisition of its plant, which, rumor had it, had been opened up again, and he took occasion to deny, absolutely, that he had ever gone to them with a proposition.

Now Glad of It

"They sent for me," he declared, "and made me a proposition to buy their plant. Later I made them an offer, which was refused, and I am glad it was now, when I find how my own plan is going to come out and the ultimate success, which seems positively sure.

"I am not now conducting any negotiations with the Peoples Water Company, and I don't expect to, and I would not enter into any negotiations with them whatever without the consent and approval of the Oakland city council."

"I would lay my plan on the table openly, and if they concurred in them I would go ahead, otherwise not."

"However, I don't expect to have any further dealings with the going concern; I am not fighting them, and I don't expect to."

"My plan, however, will be put into immediate execution, my contracts will soon be ready for the signing, and from the reception which has been accorded me by the councils of Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley I believe I will start with their approval and co-operation."

Secures Many Converts

Mr. Tevis has secured already many converts to his plan, which is a comprehensive one, far-reaching in its scope, and provides for a supply of water for Alameda county which will be the best in the state and the cheapest at a date not far distant, he says.

The one feature of the scheme, however, is the keeping of the water rates at their present price, or at least having no material reduction in them until after the contracts of the new company are signed up, he further states.

In brief, the plan of the Bay Cities Water Company is to construct a system of pipe lines connecting the three cities of Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley, and to supply water to them at rates which will be competitive with those of the Peoples Water Company. The cost of the project is estimated at $10 million.

ANOTHER BIG SLIDE BRINGS DEATH TO 50 PERSONS

Workmen Buried Beneath the Snow and no Hope Is Held for Them.

train with 125 workmen as well as nurses and doctors. The special arrived at Rogers pass at 10 o'clock this morning. Acting Superintendent Kilpatrick of the Pacific division of the Canadian Pacific left Vancouver today for the scene of the accident.

The first slide occurred at 5:40 yesterday afternoon in the narrow gorge of Bear Creek, flanked on either side by precipitous mountains covered with a depth of snow varying from 20 to 50 feet. The slide did not come from a very high elevation and was composed mostly of snow. It had a length of 500 feet and descended 60 feet. Four and sixt were falling when a rotary engine aided by a small army of white and Japanese section men, started to clear the tracks half an hour later. Although there were premonitions of danger, indicated by the crash and boom of avalanches on adjacent peaks, the men stuck bravely to the task.

As the hours advanced rain and sleet continued in increasing volume.

Precipitation at 12:30 this morning, when the first slide had been removed, the second avalanche descended. It started on the side of the canyon opposite the point where the first slides occurred. Thousands of feet above a few rolling masses of snow, growing in volume and momentum, started on a pathway of destruction.

Terrible Avalanche

In a few seconds, with a noise like a thousand thunderbolts crashing in unison, the avalanche leaped from shelf to shelf, uprooting and carrying with it a tangled mass of ice, trees and boulders. There was no escape for the unfortunate workers. The avalanche plowed top on top of the first slide, burying the tracks for a distance of a quarter of a mile and to a depth of forty feet. Hundreds of tons of other debris in the wake of the avalanche bounded off the ridge head and half filled the valley of Bear Creek, hundreds of feet below.

The news of the disaster was flashed by lone telegraph operator at a wayside station a mile distant.

Railway officials expect that at least forty-eight hours will elapse before the line can be cleared. The work will be attended with great danger as other slides may descend at any moment. No 6 express train, bound east from Vancouver, had just reached Glacier when the accident occurred.

No. 51 express, westbound, is now being held twenty-five miles east of Rogers pass.

No List of Victims

No official list of the victims will be given out until further progress shall have been made with the work of digging out the slide. Little hope is entertained that any of the railroad men in the pathway of the avalanche escaped alive. The bodies of many of the victims were probably swept into the canyon and may not be recovered until summer melts the snow. Six hundred men are now digging out the track from under the snow and debris.

message by President Roosevelt. Pinchot listened earnestly and then snapped back:

Attorney Vertrees—"I am insinuating nothing, Mr. Roosevelt."

Mr. Pinchot—"That is not my name."

"Of course he did."

Senator Nelson grew impatient and declared the meaning and intent of messages and everything else could be determined by the committee.

Augurs Passage of Postal Bank Bill

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Administrators, after a careful poll of the Senate, declare they have sufficient votes to pass the postal savings bank bill if President Taft wants it whenever the insurgents will consent to the vote being taken.

This is to say that the Administration is confident it will be able to pull through the Smoot amendment, which, in substance, is the old Root amendment in revised language, and provides as follows:

"That when, in the judgment of the President, war or any other exigency involving the credit of the Government so requires, the board of trustees may withdraw all or part of said funds from the banks and invest the same in bonds or other securities of the United States."

BODIES OF VICTIMS FROM PLEASANTON EN ROUTE TO HOME

Mrs. AND MRS. GEO. BECK.

REMOVING BODIES FROM BENEATH AVALANCHE

Men and Engineers Deployed in Force Upon Recovery of Corpses.

WELLINGTON, Wash., March 5.—Two hundred laborers with pick and shovel went to work this morning in the snowy grave yard of the gorge below the railroad station. Less than half the 100 bodies buried by the avalanche had been recovered when work stopped last night.

The bodies when found are in their sleeping garments and identification is difficult unless the outer clothing is nearby. Railroad men identify their dead comrades by the face.

NO LIST OF THEM.

So far as is known there is no list of the foreign laborers who were sleeping in the day coaches and their number is not known.

The bodies of the identified dead will be taken down the mountain side on Yukon sleds today and probably those of the wounded who are able to be moved will be conveyed to the Scenic Hotel.

The rotaries and men on both sides of the mountain are making good progress.

TREES IN WRECKAGE.

WELLINGTON, Wash., March 5.—All the bodies of the victims of the Wellington disaster will not be recovered for a month, according to a statement made by Superintendent O'Neill today. The great tree trunks that were carried down by the snow are entangled with the wreckage of the cars and other equipment and it is difficult to get at the bodies. Frequently when an opening is made in the side of a hill the snow will rush in, filling the hole and hindering the work of the rescuers. As soon as the line is opened to the outside world, which will be within eight or ten days, wrecking derricks can be sent to the scene and the trees and other debris cleared away with greater facility. Superintendent J. H. O'Neill hopes to have the track cleared in eight days.

ROTARY AT WORK.

"I have a rotary working at Alvin and within three days we shall be within 2000 feet of the stalled double rotaries two miles from Wellington," said Superintendent O'Neill. "When we have cleared the line to that point I shall set 20 men at work carrying coal to the dead locomotives and rotaries. Once those engines have real the work of clearing the line will be simplified.

There are stretches of track which are covered with sleds filled with trees. The timber must be sawed and taken out by hand so that the rotaries can get at the snow.

"This is the most difficult part of the work. Our hope for clearing the line within eight days is based upon the assumption that we do not have any more slides. If the snow continues to slide into the right of way it will take us longer."

DANGER OF SLIDES.

The danger of a second slide is imminent. The railroad people say that no person can predict what will happen if a second electrical storm is experienced. The snow back of the hotel is as high as the roof, and entrance is gained through a tunnel of snow from the front.

At Alvin the station agent was forced to leave on account of having no food.

So difficult was the work of getting away that he left a dog and two pups to starve in the depot. A track walker brought the dog to Wellington, and will return today for the pups.

At Berne, five miles east of the tunnel, the employees of the road were starved out and were forced to send a messenger over almost insurmountable obstacles to get help.

There is no confirmation of the report that six laborers were killed in an avalanche at Cascade, on the east slope of the mountains Thursday morning.

Two men lost their lives in a slide there February 27. The rains and Chinook winds make the passes dangerous and slides occur along the trails frequently.

LAWYER OBJECTS TO CONVICTION

Accuser of Policeman Found Guilty of Being Drunk.

Despite that Police Judge Samuels offered to suspend sentence on account of "first offense," George Witte, attorney for G. Bezas, a Greek, arrested as a drunk, who accused Policeman Horace McCreedy of robbing him in the Sixth street jail, objected to finding his client guilty, and the matter was continued until Monday.

Witte's objection to the finding is that he desired his man to be exonerated in order to make a better charge against the policeman. Bezas accuses the officer of stealing $138 from his pockets while holding him up.

The Greek pleaded not guilty to the charge, but an examination by Prosecuting Attorney William Hennessy convinced Judge Samuels that he was guilty.

The man claimed to be unable to speak English. Hennessy's examination proved otherwise. No reference to the charge against the policeman was made during the trial.

Released on Writ Then Re-Arrested

Superior Judge Brown today released S. J. Kenworthy, wanted in the state of Washington on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, one of habens corpus. The man had hardly stepped from the court room, however, when he was rearrested, the original of the Washington complaint having subsequently reached the officials here.

REAL ESTATE HIS FUTURE VOCATION

Neal J. McKeon Resigns as Manager to Engage in Business.

Neal J. McKeon, who has been manager and secretary of the Oakland Title and Abstract Company, searchers of records, for the past five years, has resigned and intends to take up the real estate business as the future field of his activities.

He regards the realty field as exceptionally promising at the present time and looks forward to an extraordinary activity in the real estate market during this spring and the coming summer.

Mr. McKeon is one of Oakland's bright young men. Although his whole life has been spent in Oakland, for over twenty years he has been in the business of searching records, having been employed in the office of Gustave L. Mix & Co. until the merger of that firm with the Oakland Title and Abstract Company. He is, therefore, well acquainted with every detail relating to real estate transfers and values and there is no man in the business who is better known and more respected in this city than he is among those who are interested in realty investments and transfers.

Thousands of Union Men Walk Out in Sympathy With Carmen.

BIGGEST DEMONSTRATION SEEN IN QUAKER CITY

The Transit Company Still Run Cars and Plan to Put on More.

Traffic policemen to guard against trouble looked for by the department of public safety today and tomorrow.

Elevated Running

The superintendent of the subway and elevated line of the traction company said today that the line would not be affected as the men were not unionized. As a matter of fact the company is making a great effort to keep this east and west artery of travel open.

It was said by the union leaders that today that public facilities, such as this morning's service of milk, tea and bread, had not been curtailed intentionally and that the men would go out after they had notified their patrons this morning what they intended to stop work later.

Union leaders also said that before nightfall many more of the unorganized employees of the great manufacturing plants would be called out.

In Kensington, the mill district, many of the working women, girls and boys are not affected. The strikers have pickets out who persuaded many not to go in to work, especially at great establishments in the northeast.

Textile Shops Crippled

Frank McCusker, the leader of the textile unions in Kensington, said that many establishments were crippled already and it would only be a question of a short time when they would close down entirely.

The committee of ten has taken action which is calculated to keep action as far as possible, rather than starting a general strike. An order was issued emanating from the general strike union employees of the city water works, the electric light plant, drivers of funeral carriages and employees of the hospitals and homes.

"This order was thought to be no more than just to the public," said Secretary Charles Hope. "We want to make our protest, but we don't want to cause a serious condition, which would result if these places were affected. For strike benefits union leaders estimated that their strike would cost them from national and local associations about $7 a week. The Pattern Makers and Molders will get about $12 a week while out. Other strikers will receive about $6. The national organizations as a rule are said to have a well-filled treasury at the present time."

Bricklayers Join

Bricklayers' Union No. 1 of Pennsylvania last night voted unanimously to join in the general strike. Importance had been attached to the decision made by this body, as it is an independent body and is known as a conservative organization.

The first disorder of the day, curiously enough, was the outgrowth not of action by men who had walked out, but by traction company employees, who attacked a force of police sent to protect them. The trouble arose when a squad of half a dozen colored policemen was sent to the traction power house at Market and sixteenth streets. The power house employees resented the presence of the negro officers and made a concerted attack upon them with monkey wrenches. The police retired in bad order, while the power house employees telephoned headquarters declaring that white policemen only would be received as protectors.

Expect Call for Militia

Rumors that a call for the State Militia is sure to be sent to Harrisburg in case general disorder breaks out are denied by Director of Public Safety Clay. It is understood that the National Guard authorities are ready to respond promptly to any call of the city. Governor Stuarts has decided to remain in Pittsburgh instead of coming to Philadelphia to spend Sunday, so as promptly to put the State machine in motion in case of need.

Director Clay said he thought the police would be able to handle the crowds. He expressed the opinion that many mills would close today and that

COMMON SCENES AT THE BIG STRIKE PARALYZING PHILADELPHIA BUSINESS

BANDIT CORNERED BY MAN-HUNTERS

Long Search for a Canadian Desperado at End in the Ventura Hills.

LOS ANGELES March 5 — Canadian mounted police and other searchers are scouring the Calabasas hills for Bill Hanes, a bandit who has been dead for several months, according to reports from Ventura.

If the Canadian government switches the $6500 reward offered for Bill and places it on the head of his brother Dave, dead or alive, some one may win it, for Dave, who participated in all of his train robbing exploits in the Dominion, is said to be in the same wild country, holding the borders of Los Angeles and Ventura counties.

According to reports in the vicinity where the Canadian officers are searching, Bill Hanes was killed in the battle that followed the Canadian Pacific hold up at Ashford, C. C., some months ago. He was identified, it is said, as John Hanes and the mounted police started on the trail supposed to have been made by Bill, who was buried in Canada.

Unwittingly they were following Dave and it is believed that they now have him cornered in the mountains that surround his old home at Calabasas.

Demands Big Price For Fruitful Acres

SACRAMENTO March 5 — Robert W. Sharp, a rancher of Walnut Grove on the lower Sacramento river, filed his answer today to the condemnation notice of the Sacramento Southern Railroad Company for a right of way across his land, in which he demands $34,550 for not quite three acres. He says the proposed route would shut off all other railroads as well as separate his place from a county road and the Sacramento river, which flows along 300 feet of his ranch adjoining the town of Walnut Grove. Heavy damages are particularly demanded because the railroad would prevent further work on draining the land in the district, which indicates another route which the railroad could use to the east of his place, which he states would be for the greatest public good and the least private injury.

Country Will Fight Pestiferous Housefly

WASHINGTON March 5 — A concerted country-wide attack is to be made on the housefly this year, according to Chief Entomologist Howard, who testified before a House committee.

When spring begins hundreds of scientists aided by laborers, drug chemists and mechanical "killers," will try to drive the household pests out of existence.

Mr. Howard says the campaign will begin in the country districts and the department will issue a farmer's bulletin giving advice as to the flies the flies are responsible for and how to eradicate them.

The manufacturers would co-operate with the police to preserve order.

"I do not expect any trouble, but if it comes," declared the director, "I have more than 8000 men ready for police duty."

He said he believed many of those who did not go to work today would return to their places of employment on Monday.

Woman Is Fleeced By Fictitious Draft

Giving the name of John H. Peck, and claiming he was a stranger in the city from Milwaukee, a gentleman stranger yesterday afternoon passed a fictitious draft for $25 on Mrs. Anderson, 1175 Twenty-third avenue, who reported the matter to the police this morning.

The draft was drawn on the name of Charles E. Peck, on Milwaukee bank, and was found by Mrs. Anderson to be fictitious when she attempted to secure funds on the paper.

The police have a description of the man and are investigating the matter.

Dainty Food

Turns Pale Cheeks to Pink.

Our best physicians of the present day seek to cure patients by the use of food, rather than heavy drugs, and this is the true method, for all physicians agree that from food and the body be rebuilt again people fail to get the best results.

Consequently, after living on poorly selected or badly cooked food for a long time, perhaps, and when their ailments become chronic, they expect the Doctor, with some magic potency, to instantly rebuild them.

This is not possible. The only true method is to turn as quickly as can be, from poor food to good. A young lady over in Ohio says:

"I was variously treated for my nerves, muscles, lungs, etc., but none of the treatments gave me relief."

"About a year ago my appetite failed completely and I began to have spastic spasms similar to tetany, then I took all manner of tonics and stimulants, but they were of no effect. I had been brought to quit drinking coffee and taking Postum in its place, and gradually began to get a little better."

"Someone suggested that if I found Postum so beneficial I had better eat Grape-Nuts food, as they were both the children of a dietitian. I commenced on Grape-Nuts food for breakfast, having Postum for dinner. When I found the food so dainty, delicious, and appetizing that I always looked forward to breakfast with pleasure."

"Shortly after commencing this diet, the wretched pain in my side was greatly relieved, and now, a year later, it has gone entirely, also the sinking spasms, in fact, my pale cheeks have changed to pink. I have gained back more than twenty pounds I lost, and am thoroughly well in every way."

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in plugs. "There's a Reason."

"Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest."

Mr. Tevis is naturally optimistic,

Clothing Is Stolen; Plumbers Suspected

A complaint was made to the police station by Mrs. Milton Clune, 117-119 Jefferson street, who claims that within the past two days three suits of clothes, the property of her husband, were taken from the house, which is next door, and the woman suspects that number of plumbers who have been at work under the building are responsible for the theft. The case is being looked into.

STANTON MAKES APPEAL TO ALAMEDA COUNTY

Gives Reasons, in Open Letter, Why He Should Have Support--L.R. League
Is Holding Meeting

In political circles the all absorbing office seeking the man and not the man topic of discussion is the gubernatorial candidacy situation. So far as the People's party is concerned the contest is becoming settled that the fight at the primary election will be confined to four candidates namely Allen Anderson of San Francisco, Speaker of the Assembly Phillip Stanton of Los Angeles, Secretary of State Charles F. Cherry and Hiram W. Johnson, the nominee of the Lincoln-Roosevelters.

Whatever hope may have been cherished by other candidates that Stanton would be induced to retire from the contest, they have been shattered by the following circular letter which has been sent to former supporters of ex Governor Pardieu of Alameda county:

"Mr. Mayor. Now that Mayor Mott is not in the fight for the Gubernatorial and I am certainly expect some support from the friends of former Governor Pardieu in Oakland, I feel in view of my loyalty to him at a time when loyalty was at premium I am entitled to more than favorable consideration at the hands of his friends."

In Fight to Stay

I am in the fight to stay and for the first place, for under no circumstances or conditions will I even consider the second place. I do not want to make a sectional fight of this but nevertheless we of the south feel that we have elected the Republican State ticket. It is immaterial and that we are now entitled to some reward in politics. As in everything else, reciprocity should cut some figure, and my stand with you and yours at a critical time should certainly warrant me in calling upon you and yours now that I need assistance.

"It is my intention to as far as possible organize every precinct in the State and win or lose I intend to fight until the last ballot is counted. I hope to hear from you in a favorable vein."

Stanton is therefore in the fight to stay to the finish.

Fears Stanton

Speaking of Stanton's candidacy for the governorship the Lincoln Roosevelt Club has this to say:

"Harrison Gray Otis has committed himself and his newspaper to Stanton and the understanding that P. H. McCarthy and his union labor organization is to support Anderson will not help much if an attempt is made to pull Otis down. Stanton is making his stand against the Japanese exclusion resolution one of the cards of his campaign and that is another blue ticket in the scramble for the favor of Otis who hates organized labor more than he hates Senator Bill Savage of San Pedro. Johnson Goes South

The Los Angeles Lincoln Roosevelt Club fear that Stanton will cut into their vote and they have been insisting that Hiram W. Johnson visit Los Angeles at the earliest practicable moment. Johnson's personal pretension was to open his campaign in the small counties in Northern California and work his way around to the big cities for the wind up of the fight. The Southerners have prevailed, however, and Johnson is scheduled to go south next week.

L.R. Slate Making

Today the Lincoln Roosevelt League is holding a session in San Francisco to complete its slate for the coming primary. The executive committee had a secret session at its headquarters in the Metropolis building in that city last evening.

The Chronicle says of it this morning:

"The purpose of the assembly was to prepare a program for the committee at its adjourned meeting today. Hiram Johnson participated in the private slate making conference."

"It was practically decided to nominate Attorney General Webb and Supervisor General Kingsbury at today's session. It is understood that Superior Judge Leon of Santa Rosa may be nominated for the Appellate Court of this district to run against Judge Cooper. The latter, who was elected as a Democrat, will seek a nomination from the Republicans at the August primary."

"The members of the committee say that they probably will not complete their ticket today as they do not intend nominating any person for an office who is not seeking it. The old saw of the Meeting of 1913.

William E. Kelly, national president of the National Association of Letter Carriers, is visiting this city and was last night banqueted by the officers of the local branch at the Forum following an afternoon devoted to an auto ride and sight seeing about the place of beauty and interest in and near Oakland.

Twelve covers and one more were laid at the prettily decorated board upon which were scattered in fashion pink carnations and ferns while the room was hung with greens of various kinds. The company was seated at 6:30 o'clock and wasted no time over formalities entering at once into a jolly discussion of the afternoon's pleasure followed later on by a more serious discourse over the affairs of the association.

Railway Autocrat On Visit to State

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—Henry L. Dodge, who as head of the Rock Island lines has sway over 8,000 miles of railroad, is a guest at the Palace hotel. He arrived in San Francisco with his wife in a private car yesterday and spent the afternoon visiting friends in San Francisco and San Mateo.

Mr. and Mrs. Dodge will remain in San Francisco for several days.

"There is absolutely no railroad significance to my visit," said Dodge last night. "My wife and myself are out here in California simply to get away from the rigorous weather in Chicago. Her parents live at Colton in the southern part of your state, and we spent about a week there."

We shall remain in San Francisco for several days and shall visit a number of our friends here and in San Mateo and elsewhere. But our trip is purely for personal reasons and has nothing to do with railroads.

Christian Science Defended by Writer

EDITOR OF THE TRIBUNE—Out of justice to the relatives and friends of the late C. V. Hughes of Alameda I wish to correct any wrong impressions which may have been conveyed by the account you recently published of this gentleman's death.

I am informed that Mr. Hughes had been in poor health until about two years ago when after being treated without success by a number of physicians he turned to Christian Science and received relief remaining a well man until about a month ago.

During his illness Mr. Hughes had the best of care, and if after having had experience under different systems, he looked for relief to the one from which he had previously received the most help, there seems nothing in this fact which should arouse adverse criticism.

Mr. and Mrs. Christian Science do not believe in healing every case for while "all things are possible to God yet the human understanding is not always sufficiently clear to realize His healing power."

Thanking you for giving space to these comments yours sincerely,

FRANK HASHLAW

Reports were brought to Oakland this morning of a big oil strike at North Midway which has caused a sensation in Kern county.

Dr. H. Korgan and A. G. Wilke both of this city have been working the Mayes Oil company's works at North Midway for the past eight months and yesterday a vein was opened that produced 20,000 barrels daily. The well is located in the rich oil country and the good fortune of the Oaklanders is basted with delight by neighboring prospectors.

If the well continues the out-pour of valuable oil the strike yesterday will net the owners of the Mayes Oil company a fortune.

BAY ASSOCIATION PLAN CONFERENCE

Congregational Ministers Will Meet Tuesday in Market Street Church.

The fifty-ninth meeting of the Bay Association of Congregational Churches and Ministers will be called to order Tuesday, March 8, in the Market Street Congregational Church, Eighteenth and Market streets. Three elected or appointed delegates will represent the different Congregational churches at the conference.

One of the most important topics for discussion will be the proposed amendment to the constitution, which was introduced by the Credential committee at the last meeting. One of the amendments will be to the effect that ministerial membership shall lapse in the cases of ministers who fail to continue cordial membership somewhere in an evangelical church.

The program for the afternoon and evening sessions will be as follows:

2:30 devotional service, conducted by Mr. E. Belden Hart; 3: business session, reports of committees, election of officers, amendments, other business, 4:30. ### ST. MARY'S.

At the 11 a.m. High Mass at St. Mary's, Seventh and Jefferson streets, the Oakland Conservatory of Music Choir and Orchestra under the direction of Prof. Adolf Gregory, will render Nicom-Chor's Messes Solonelle; this will be the thirteenth of the special musical services inaugurated last July.

The work to be rendered is one little known in this country, being composed by Choron in 1832, when he was connected with the Paris Conservatoire of Music, and will be of particular interest to music lovers.

These services will be continued throughout the year the first Sunday in each month.

The orchestral music during the mass next Sunday will be given by the modern composer, Edwin Elgar.

At the offertory the choir will render the opening number from Rossini's Stabat Mater.

At the evening service at 7:45 there will be solemn devotions and procession of the Holy Rosary, the choir rendering Glorias by Rossi, Schœnt, Cluck, Haydn, etc. O Salutaris by Gounod and Tantum ergo by Strebille.

The soloists of the mass will be Miss Ma Wilkie, Miss Mary Spiller, Louis J. Spiller and Adolf Gregory. Mrs. Adolf Gregory will preside at the organ.

A Greek Bearing Gifts.

"Speak out, Mr. Anderson," adjures the Fresno Republican, addressing Hon. Alden Anderson, who has announced himself as a candidate for the Republican Gubernatorial nomination. The Fresno paper then proceeds to outline what it desires Mr. Anderson to say. The editor of the Republican is a member of the executive committee of the so-called Lincoln-Roosevelt League, and is one of the men chiefly responsible for the presentation of Hiram Johnson's name as the league candidate for Governor. He wanted Francis J. Heney for a candidate till Heney positively refused to run. Then he joined hands with the Spreckels-Heney forces to put up Mr. Johnson. Under no circumstances would he support any other candidate.

The Fresno editor asks Mr. Anderson to endorse Mr. Johnson's indictment of the Republican party and join in the denunciation of its present and past leadership in the State and Nation. On this condition, he will admit that Mr. Anderson is not a crook or a conspirator against the liberties of the people. But he will not support him for Governor.

Should Mr. Anderson consent to be a megaphone for Chester H. Rowell and a character witness for Mr. Johnson the Republican would promptly say he had given the most convincing proof possible that Mr. Johnson should be nominated; that by repudiating the regular Republican organization of the State as corrupt he had proved the case of the league and demonstrated the necessity of electing its candidate, or rather the candidate of a scant majority of the league's executive committee.

In doing this the Republican would be entirely logical and consistent. For Mr. Anderson to endorse Mr. Johnson's utterances and position and affirm as true the charges of misfeasance brought against the Republican party and its leadership would be to confess unworthiness on his part.

Having admitted the major and minor premise of the Spreckels-Heney-Rowell junta, the conclusion that he has no business, under existing conditions, to be a candidate for Governor and that Mr. Johnson is the man to vote for would follow as a matter of course.

Of course, the Fresno Republican is not sincere in offering advice to Mr. Anderson. It will damn him if he takes it and damn him if he doesn't. It will be for Johnson in any event because the Rowell influence helped make Johnson a candidate and the Rowell political interests are wrapped up in Johnson's candidacy. Therefore, the editor of the Republican, in the kindness of his heart, blandly presents Mr. Anderson the alternative of the devil or the deep sea—choice whether he shall be eaten or drowned.

Mr. Anderson shows a disinclination to pull the Rowell chestnuts out of the fire. He would be a fool if he did. Instead of holding an honorable and leading place as a candidate for Governor he would become a led horse in the Johnson entourage, a recruit for the Spreckels-Heney clique.

Names for California Wines.

This from the New York Sun is not unkind, but it is inaccurate, in suggestion, at least:

"California produces no French wine. California produces California wine of several distinct types, each sound and wholesome, all susceptible of artful treatment which will make them worth a place on any table, worthy of such study as the educated palate knows how to give to natural flavors. It is a mistake for the Californian vigneron to proclaim that he produces French wines. Californian wines acquire their counterfeit French disguise in dark New York cellars, robbed of their purity under fortification of spirits and caramels."

California vignerons do not pretend to produce French wines. They claim, and claim with truth, that they produce clarets, burgundies, sauterne, port and sherry equal in quality and purity to similar wines produced in France, Spain and Italy. They do not put labels on their wines indicating French, Spanish or Italian origin, but they do employ the same designations by which the same types of wine are distinguished abroad. For instance, champagne is a French word describing a certain type of effervescent wine, usually white, produced in different countries. There are German and Italian as well as French champagnes. Excellent champagne is produced in California, but California vignerons do not attempt to market their champagne as the product of foreign vineyards.

The same is true of California clarets, burgundies, sauterne, etc. We make no false pretense about our wines, as the French do, but claim the right to call them by the names which designate their type and variety. An immense proportion of the Bordeaux wines are the product of Spanish, Italian, South American and Turkish vineyards. These wines are imported into France and after being blended and sophisticated are put upon the market as French wines. Even California wines go to France and return to this country under the trademarks of French vignerons as French wines.

Some people see no objection to California wine being sold in this country as French claret or Spanish sherry, but they deny the right of California wine-makers to describe their wines by names indicative of their type and variety with labels which truthfully state their origin. California claret is produced exclusively in California. French claret like as not is produced in Spain, Italy, Turkey or Greece. London ships us port and sherry labeled as coming from Spain and Portugal, but really coming from South Africa, South America and California.

California makers alone are dealing fairly with the wine trade of the world, and they demand a fair deal for themselves. They protest against being discriminated against in favor of fraud and spurious vintage.

Pinchot's effort to start an Ananias Club with the President and Secretary Wilson as charter members is not likely to succeed.

Oakland is in sad need of more paved streets and better sidewalks. Even in the business section of the city some of the sidewalks are a public disgrace. Wouldn't it be a good idea for the Chamber of Commerce and Merchants' Exchange to take this matter up and inaugurate a general movement for street improvement?

It is reported that the Phelps-Dodge Syndicate, owners of the El Paso & Southwestern Railroad, which runs from El Paso to Bisbee and Benson, Arizona, have acquired a controlling interest in the Texas & Pacific Railroad, which runs from El Paso to New Orleans via Fort Worth and Dallas. The report has it that George J. Gould has sold out his holdings in the Texas & Pacific, or a large part of them, to enable him to better control and develop his Missouri Pacific system and its western connections, the Denver & Rio Grande and the Western Pacific. If the Texas & Pacific has really fallen into the hands of the Phelps-Dodge Syndicate it means that Southern California is soon to be invaded by another transcontinental line, having close connections with St. Louis, Chicago and the northeast via the Gould lines centering at Texarkana.

The managers of the Hebrew Technical School for Girls are proud of the fact that the 1120 graduates of the institution are earning salaries amounting to $625,762 a year. The average weekly salary is $12, although many of the girls earn more. The average is reduced because of hundreds of graduates who have recently left the school.

Nathaniel Myers, president of the institution, says in the American Hebrew that its growth has been phenomenal. On January 1 there were 400 girls in the school. At the end of March there will be graduation which will leave 150 vacancies. There are now more than 450 applications for these places, and soon there will be many more.

"Superstition still prevails to a considerable extent among the upper classes," says the Japan Mail. "During the Russo-Japanese war many high-rank officers had Kwanon (the Goddess of Mercy) images concealed in their breasts. Admiral Togo was one of these. General Kodama worshipped every morning. Baron Iwaki has his house in a shrine erected in honor of Inari Sama, who is known among his household as Gobyn. Among the followers of the Aunbaraka priests (yoso) there may be named Marquis Iwakura, Count Hayashi, Major General Nagioka and a number of wealthy business men.

That there should be so much superstition in the minds of our upper classes is a subject of deep regret."

Nearly 10,000 people assembled in the mass meeting at the City Hall which was called for the purpose of giving some of the councilmen an idea of public sentiment regarding the water ordinance. In the parade were banners on which were inscribed "God bless the man who invented filters"; "Give us back our dead"; "Water costs more than bread".

Among other speakers were the Rev. F. A. Horton, Chairman Peter Thompson, Treasurer J. L. Markey, E. L. Fleming, J. W. Dutton, and E. A.

Banking Record of South

A favorite theme with certain of our economists and those who, professionally or otherwise, are given to the regular projecting of diagnoses on commerce, industry, and finance is the leading barometric character of the country's leading stock and produce exchanges, along with the money conditions and movements at the great business centers wherein these institutions operate; that is, it is assumed or taken for granted that when conditions in one or more of all these great markets are unfavorable, general business conditions throughout the country promptly reflect the thing to a greater or less extent. And observation and experience do not run contrary to the argument. But occasionally some exceptions or contrasts are presented, and, while they do not go to disprove the theory, they are extremely interesting as showing how, occasionally, the affairs of a certain section may stand on their own bottom and move quite independently of those in the big financial centers.

In the early weeks of this year, for instance, when stock market values were steadily dropping lower and lower day after day, when apprehension of the "Washington program" was causing business to halve and business sentiment to be one largely of doubt, when the end of the "decline" seemed still a long way off, and when new enterprises in the north and

Crimes in the Name of Justice

The country has just been given, in the case of Seyler, charged with manslaughter, at Atlantic City, New Jersey, another atrocious example of tyrannical abuse of power by police officials.

What authority have these officials to inflict what is called "the third degree" upon any prisoner in their charge?

Not the slightest in the status under which they are placed in power, not the faintest save that pleasure which their brutal instincts derive from persistent goading of a helpless and powerless victim.

This republic, nor the states of the union, give no power of torture akin to those of the Spanish Inquisition to any officials, and this too often used, illegal and barbarous form of police procedure should be taken in hand by the Judges of the Criminal Courts and the Prosecuting Attorneys of the Courts, and the offending officials should be taught a lesson that would stop forever their stupid, often malicious and always uncivilized practice of torturing prisoners. It is but a few short months since the citizens of the United States were horrified and full of indignation over the actions and words of French court officials toward the unfortunate Madame Steinheil, on trial for the murder of her husband and her mother.

Their procedure is not only illegal, but it is against the spirit of the age, as well as the law. It is nothing more or less than a brutal form of official tyranny, a relic of the dark ages, utterly unfit to be applied to any man, utterly unworthy, degrading, demoralizing and a crime against justice.—Cincinnati Enquirer

California's Popular Sport

Walking has never been the most popular sport or recreation in California. Walking tours are rare, good roads and a tolerably closely-settled countryside. Walking loses its interest if there are not good beds awaiting at the end of each day. In England, where there are bold and excellent highways, and the villages tread on even other's toes, walking is a popular and comfortable amusement for the general folk who cannot afford automobiles, but can purchase thick stockings and knickerbockers.

But in California the saddle horse was the first chief means of locomotion. The horse and buggy followed in sequence, as the roads became better, and the riding seat of the Californian less secure.

But from the most unexpected quarter has come a stimulus for the sport of walking. Spurning the automobiles of their class, two society men contrived on a hot to walk from Burlingame to Monterey. They made the route.

There may come from this adventure on foot a general walking movement among Californians. Nothing could be more reasonable than that walking as a recreation should grow in popularity, and nothing could be more amusing than that the impetus to the sport should come from the "automobile class."—News Letter.

Poets Coming In Shoals

The new poets and poetesses are coming in shoals, and a further incentive to their ambitions upon grammatical construction and common sense is preferred by the Panama Exposition Committee that boldly advertises for an ova. With a prize to the winner sufficiently attractive to enable the committee to insist upon death or deportation as the lot of those competitors who shall fall, a great good may be preserved. In this connection, it may be mentioned that Mr. Percy Mayes has made Commander Peary the object of an assault with one of his poems. "For so they are dubbed by Edwin Markham, the runkest offender of them all, albeit his obtrusions are always grammatically inflected. Mr. Markham has much to answer for to a patient public. Last week, at one haul, no less than a good half dozen of these word butchers were tenderly pulled by him into the Examiner's book review, there to weakly wriggle under his kindly intended, but sinful, condonation of their crimes.—News Letter.

Objects to the Name of Ass

One Mr. Jacobs, who shocked Mayor McCarthy by calling him drunk, is reported to have taken offense because his honor is said to have called him an ass. It is a serious, but suggestive fact that no person likes to be thought an ass. Curtains, because one is popularly believed to like the sense of superiority to one's fellows which generally accompanies a difference of opinion among gentlemen. And, surely, no fellow can go so undeniably one's inferior as the fellow who thinks one an ass. Successive? Well, it is suggestive because the ass proper is an exceedingly useful animal and can live on oats and north wind. And this may be the height particular reason why, in this instance, the Mayor and the man appear to be so particularly interested in what they may, possibly, believe to be each other's most prominent characteristic.—News Letter.

Thinks Bowery Is Real Good

George Hobart, a New York manufacturer staying at the St. Francis, once held certain conceits in regard to the meanness of the Bowery. But no more—for he took in the dance halls on the Barbary Coast the other night. In doing so, he refused to buy a certain bottle of wine at Thalia. Thalia has a reputation for waiters that are pugs and some women who are Amazons. It was the Amazons who got hold of George Hobart. But they were loving Amazons—until George refused to buy that bottle of wine. Then ideas turned to curses and curses to blows. When Hobart arrived, beaten and breathless at the St. Francis, he was asked by one of the clerks what he thought about it.

"Confound it," he graped, "why didn't you tell me it wasn't safe?" "Oh, it is perfectly safe," returned the clerk, "but you have to look the part."

"I suppose—and I don't—" with a certain pride.

"On the contrary, very much so; if you go back as you are, they will not let you in."—News Letter.

Ned Greenway Writing a Book

Ned Greenway is writing a book. The story is an old one, but like Ned himself, it never stale. What is going into the book is still a mystery—but since the best of society will be there, it would be rather sad to be left out. And yet at this altar of the pen, it is said that Ned is going to have all his enemies. As for Mrs. Alexander—well, poor Mrs. Alexander! A friend put the question to Ned, the relentless one, the other day.

"How is Mrs. Alexander going to figure in your book, Ned?" he asked.

Which goes to show that more than one god is blind.

"And what about that chapter on marriage?" went on his friend. "It is said it is very brilliant."

The Great Man looked somewhat apoplectic. "The chapter on marriage," he said, "is, of course, principally on divorce."—News Letter.

Baron Von Schroeder Gallant

Baron Von Schroeder is extremely gallant, and is also the pink of neatness, his love of tidiness running almost to old maid proportions. Recently, I am told, the Baroness was out on a shopping tour. Her maid-servant who had donned a long-skirted gown in which the fad was born, she trailed her down from her motor car to the shop, made her purchase and left. But on her way to her car she was stopped with, "Pardon me, your gown—permit me." Down on his knees went the interrupter, whipped a pen-knife from his pocket and eliminated the torn facing. It was the Baron.—The Wasp.

Society Is on The Water Wagon

Gertrude Atherton says society is on the water wagon." Mrs. Atherton has been viewing New York society, and of course if the water wagon is the fashionable vehicle, the gifted novelist would be invited to climb right up and sit next to the driver. For she has an enviable place in New York society, the aristocracy of wealth receiving her as a distinguished member of the aristocracy of brains. So if Mrs. Atherton asserts that society is temperate, we may feel sure that she came to that conclusion from an intimate study of existing conditions. But let us remember that Mrs. Atherton is talking about New York, not San Francisco. We lag just a bit behind the Gotham styles, which may account for the fact that society here still wears vine leaves in its hair. If the water wagon is making daily trips between Burlingame and Pacific Heights, society has not yet climbed aboard. It is not even running alongside with one finger on the harness, nor is it stealing a ride on the back. Neither the chariot nor the water wagon have arrived here. Earley water has taken the place of whisky and wine in New York and London, says Mrs. Atherton. Out here the girls are still using it to remove freckles, tan and sunburn. They still rest under the delusion that little drops of barley water, little grains of paint, make a lady's freckles look as if they ain't!

Whereas, barley water is now the official dope for painting the town. Of course, you can't incandescence a town, paint it to red, on barley water, but you can and must spread a delicate pink if you would be fashionable.—News Letter.

Women's Auxiliary Prison Committee

By the woman's auxiliary of the California Prison Commission. Just now the literature of imagination is being enriched with as pretentious a creation as human ingenuity has ever added to our intellectual treasures. This committee has been investigating charges of cruelty on the part of prison officials at Folsom toward one Oppenheimer, whose career of viciousness and crime appears to have been little checked by prison discipline. The search for material upon which to build testimony in support of these charges has been industriously maintained in the face of the most discrediting evidence that none exists. "We have heard that cruel treatment at the prison does not exist," is the latest report of the chairman, "but the Board of Prison Directors naturally does not wish to consider mere hearsay." So the mighty task progresses. Certainly, in these degenerate days, mere hearsay evidence in support of the morality of any undertaking merits the severest suspicion, and calls for prompt and vigorous investigation.—News Letter.

Big Jim on His Travels

The circumstance that while many a worthless rascal is made to feel the conqueror of poverty and obscurity, Big Jim Callahan, lousy and free-care, takes the world in influence is not reflected upon the character and ability of this particular spotted darling of the departed boss; for he is most certainly the creature of circumstances, yesterday clinging to his adopted country with a grip that even dynamite couldn't loosen, today flitting lightly on the wings of pleasure to foreign climes. They tell us that nothing is lost to nature, and the Grand Jury, by its effort to bring him back, is evidently making an effort to prove the fact. But how happily would we believe the truism without demonstration and regard him forever. 1st. News Letter.

Smart Set to Go on Stage

The San Francisco Stage Society, which recruited from the Smart Set, is rehearsing three plays: "How She Lied to Her Husband," "Op 'o Me Thum" and "In Honor Bound." Mrs. Fred McNear, Mrs. Lansing Kellogg, Mrs. McDonald Spencer and Miss Kathleen de Young have the leading roles in the Shaw comedies. The performance is to be given in the ball-room of the St. Francis Hotel, and the tickets can only be purchased on presentations of invitations. At least that is the present plan, but it may be that the players will be induced to give the production for the general public and for the benefit of some charity. The work and worry attendant upon such a production interferes somewhat with the sneer enjoyment of acting, and these fashionable amateurs decided to give up to make believe even as Marie Antoinette played at dallying—without any award for the great outside world.

The members of the society who are now busily engaged in rehearsing are Mr. and Mrs. H. McDonald Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Nat Messer, Dr. and Mrs. J. Wilson Shibley, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tobin, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Eastland, Mr. and Mrs. Worthington Ames, Mrs. Lansing Kellogg, Mrs. George Cameron, Mrs. H. E. Brownell, Mrs. Henry Land, Mrs. Percy Moore, Mrs. George Sperry, Mrs. Vincent Whitney, Mrs. Mark Gestel, Mrs. Frank Matthiessen, Mrs. Fred McNear, Miss Osgood Atherton, Miss Kathleen de Young, Miss Josephine Harrison, Royden Williamson, A. C. Ford, Cliff Tobin, Richard Hotaling, Willard Barton, Joseph Eastland, Alfred McKinnon, W. H. Smith Jr., Charles de Young, Emerson Warfield, Joseph Pownall and J. E. White.—News Letter.

Dinner of The Wordens

The Clinton Wordens gave a very handsomely appointed dinner at the Fairmont on Tuesday for Mr. J. M. Quay, a visitor in San Francisco. Miss Natalee Hunt is a frequent tea hostess, gathering a number of her young friends in the court of the Palace for the mid-Olongo destination. On Tuesday she had half a dozen girls at a merry table. The Josephine Sanders gave the most elaborate affair of Wednesday, eight guests sitting down to a sumptuously appointed dinner at the Palace. Dorothy Van Sicklen was a bridge hostess, dozen girls and an equal number of men enjoying the game and the attendant gaieties. Besides these affairs, there was the hop at the Presidio, so Wednesday stepped fairly lively. News Letter.

California Well Represented

With Edwin Markham and Herman Schlesinger representing the poetry of California, Gertrude Atherton representing our fiction and Mr. James D. Phelan in the role of a humorist and patron of all the arts, it must be admitted that the West was not without its influence on the birth of a salon. To be exact, it was hardly a salon which was inaugurated on this occasion. It was rather a poet's union. While the plans are still vague, inchoate, as becomes poetical plans, it is probable that other affairs will be arranged in Mrs. Rice's beautiful apartments where more sandwiches will be consumed, more tea drunk and more pale thoughts interchanged. The idea of forming a stock company for poets was broached by George Sylvester Viereck, a poet of purple passion and dark, mysterious evil. Viereck conceded that the shares might not sell at par right away, but he thought the poets might wait for dividends. Edwin Markham wanted to found a Society for Lovers of Poetry with Dante and Beatrice as charter members.—Town Talk.

Interesting Group At Luncheon

There was an interesting group lunching together at the St. Francis the other day. It included Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Whitney, George Whittell Sr., and George Whittell Jr. The Interest centers in the presence of George Whittell Jr. It was only a few years ago that he was the devoted fiance of his hostess. Their engagement was announced and the usual fuss was made over it. Pearl Landers was the most popular belle in society and her collection of engagement cups numbered over two hundred. Suddenly one day each cup was returned to its owner with a note from Miss Landers explaining that her engagement to Mr. Whittell was discontinued. Soon after this young Whittell began to ill columns in the newspapers with his matrimonial exploits. A contract manisted was annulled only to be followed by his wedding with Miss Josie Cunningham of the Anna Held forces. Pearl Landers married Vincent Whitney a year or so after the shattered romance with George Whittell. The merry luncheon party of last Saturday proves that the breaking of hearts is taken lightly these days.—Town Talk.

Spell of a Grill Room Drama

Mr. Henry suffered an indignity in the Palace Hotel the other day, which, though it was not quite so humiliating as that which was put upon him by Justice Melvin, was akin to Mercutio's wound in that it sufficed. The author of the indignity was Mr. William H. Nelson, the attorney, a gentleman with fighting blood in his veins and reputation that defers the average citizen from a tendency to braggadocio in his presence. Henry met Nelson in the crowded grill, and gave him a look that seemed to say "I've got more than a sharp toothy expression of innocence which settles upon Henry's countenance whenever he meets anybody who doesn't like him, and which consequently is almost fixed." Mr. Nelson who was sitting at a table a short distance from the chair occupied by the little prosecutor acknowledged the Henry from with a stare charged with menace. The two lawyers were observed by a score of men in the grill who watched the development of this little drama without words, and presently the nervous tension became acute. The atmosphere was heavy with portent of a clash. For several minutes both men watched each other without the tremor of a muscle. A hush fell upon the room. The attorney was fascinating, and the surprise made breathing short and quick. A sudden flush in Nelson's eyes and the situation changed. It was as though the chin had started from Henry's shoulder. With a feeble smile he turned away. Nelson would not be denied. He changed his seat and forced a renewal of the drama. Henry responded, apparently with fresh determination, but the strain was too great. He quailed, rose and walked away.—Town Talk.

Society Girls At the Baths

It has lately become the fad for society maidens and matrons to congregate every Friday morning at the Loring Baths. Last Friday a jolly party included Mrs. H. McDonald Spencer, Mrs. Gerald Rathbone, Mrs. Virginia Jolliffe and Miss Mary Josey. In their taffeta bathing suits they made very charming pictures and their swimming was exceptionally good. Mrs. Rathbone, with her wealth of Titian hair reminded many of Little Bo Peep as she dove into the tank. Mrs. Brickett with her glorious blonde hair that fell in ribbons about her face was another who attracted particular attention. An Eastern lady on a visit here was exceedingly enthusiastic about the beauty of face and form of these girls. She said that she had never seen so many splendid looking women at any baths which she had visited and so she was known to be an ardent swimmer who had traveled a great deal, her praise was taken as having particular worth.—Town Talk.

McEnery Not An Englishman

Dr. William A. McEnery, who defeated Percy Solley in the walk from San Mateo to Del Monte this week, was spoken of freely by the dailies as "the well-known English clubman." Dr. McEnery is sufficiently well "known" and sufficiently "clubman" that his antecedents should also be well known. He is an Irishman born and bred, although he was educated in England. But you never hear the expression "well-known Irish clubman." Dr. McEnery, as well as being a man of splendid physique, is very wealthy, and is one of the distinct eligibles of the upper ten. He has been in San Francisco for so long that few remember that he came here from Salt Lake City. Percy Solley is a popular member of the large society, which includes the Athertons, Macmillans, Ayres, Rathbones, Pincks and Grubbs. He married the widow of Fred Macdonald.—The Wasp.

August Belmont's Real Name

Apronos of the marriage of August Belmont and Eleanor Robson, I do not remember having seen any mention of the fact, in recent years, that August Belmont's real name is Schoenberg. The Belmonts are of Jewish descent, but they were not particularly enamored of the name, so they had it changed to its French equivalent—Belmont. Also the fact appears to have been overlooked that Miss Robson was really a San Francisco product, so far as her stage career was concerned. She made her debut here with the Frawley company so long ago that no one now remembers the name of the play. Her mother, Mrs. Madge Carr Cook, of "Mrs. Wiggs" fame, was a member of the same company, and was strongly opposed to her daughter going on the stage at all, but the young woman won out, and had made even a greater success than her mother—not to mention her success matrimonially in landing the millionaire. Mrs. Cook has recently retired from the stage, but whether she has decided that she is getting too old to work or because her daughter is the wife of a millionaire, we cannot authoritatively state.—The Wasp.

Maude Fay's Embarrassment

It is small wonder that Miss Maude Fay, the beautiful local girl who has made her mark as an operatic singer in Germany, was greatly embarrassed by the rumor that Gertrude Atherton had made her the heroine of her latest novel. It will be remembered that Miss Fay visited this city at the time when Mrs. Atherton was putting the finishing touches on the novel and that the novelist entertained her. Owing to doubt as to the accomplishm ent of the District Attorney's office, for the obtaining of which our unfortunate taxpayers were assessed to the amount of $70,000, exclusive of automobile hire and other incidental expenses. Mr. Phelps has put to good account what they set before him in the open between himself and San Francisco and to the fact that it was known that Mrs. Atherton's heroine was an operatic singer, the rumor flew about that the character had been drawn from Miss Fay. Both Mrs. Atherton and Miss Fay emphatically denied this statement more than once in my presence and exhibited the greatest anxiety about its circulation. Miss Fay seemed greatly embarrassed by the story while Mrs. Atherton was both irritated and amused.

Now that "Tower of Ivory," the story in question, has been published, the reason is quite apparent. The heroine of the story is a woman with an awful past.

Although she has sealed the responsibility of a man of family, and that he had been deeply devoted to presenting himself at the altar of Hyman.

He was equally persistent, and the upshot of the affair was that he left Portland and came to San Francisco, seeking an opening to engage in business here on his own account.

In this undertaking he was not successful as quickly as he would have liked, and it is said that the obstacles to the expected marriage remained so many and discouraging that Miss Cohen deemed it the wisest course to break the engagement. Her family has been for many years identified with the firm of Goldstein & Cohen, theatrical costumers. Their business in this is the largest west of New York. The firm of Goldstein & Cohen is said to have been financially interested in the old Tivoli in the prime of its days, before the fire, 1906. Owing to the social and business prominence of the families of Kosland and Cohen, the disruption of the matrimonial program has excited a great deal of interest in their social circle.—The Wasp.

At the recent tea given by Mrs. Joe Grant at her handsome home on Broadway, the English fashion of conducting such affairs was observed. To some of the San Francisco guests the proceedings were quite unusual, and therefore quite interesting. Mrs. Grant dispensed with the usual formality of having a number of ladies to assist her in receiving. She received alone, the guests being ushered in by footmen, one of whom took the visitor's card up to the hostess. Another servant announced in a loud tone the name of the arrival. In some respects this English custom is an improvement upon our democratic fashion of receiving guests and going through the formality of introducing them to all the company. It requires more than an ordinary courage, however, to put the English custom of conducting a tea into effect. Mrs. Grant is fortunate in the possession of one of the finest and best-appointed houses in San Francisco. It is of red brick, with a high fence around it, and is constructed in the most approved English style, with all the latest American improvements calculated to contribute to the personal comfort of the inhabitants. The dining-room, which is finished in Chinese walnut, is a beautiful apartment. The mansion has been so arranged that everybody's apartments are separate and independent of the remainder of the house. All the arrangements for the comfort of the ghosts are most admirable, and it is doubtful if there is a private residence in San Francisco which offers so many advantages to the occupants.—The Wasp.

Which reminds me that the bride in question, Miss Waddell herself, was prematurely congratulated upon an engagement which never eventuated. Joe Gross, a relative of the City Auditor of Oakland, paid court assiduously to Miss Waddell in her girlish days, but the young lady's family did not consider that Gross' prospects were such as to entitle him to the prize. The ever-popular expedient of consoling the young lady with an extensive trip was resorted to. Miss Waddell paid long visits to relatives in the East. Not long after her return came the announcement of her betrothal to Mr. Young, whose father is a banker at Fort Jones and otherwise well connected in the affairs of Northern California.—The Wasp.

AVERTS RATE WAR ON WESTERN ROADS

Withdrawal of Low Rates by the Soo Allays Fear of Scalpers' Attack.

CHICAGO, March 5.—Fears of the western railroads that the controversy over second class party fares from Chicago to St. Paul and Minneapolis would spread to the proportions of a war affecting the principal cities of the west were allayed by the announcement that a settlement had been agreed upon.

The low rates made by the Soo Line and met by the Chicago, Great Western and the Illinois Central will be withdrawn after having been in effect for thirty days from the date of the tariffs filed with the commission, which is March 28. This means the abolition of second class party fares to the territory west of Chicago, which long have been a matter of dispute.

The objection to the rates is that they can be taken advantage of by scalpers to bunch passengers on one ticket at less than the regular rates, while they are intended primarily for gangs of laborers traveling together.

Find Eldridge's Bones Withering on Desert

LOS ANGELES, March 5.—A letter from Ryan, a mining camp, brought information today that the bones of David Eldridge of Illinois had been found in the desert. Eldridge, who was the owner of a sewing machine manufacturer, lost the trail while on his way from the Pahvant mountains to Greenwater last July. Searching parties failed to find him. Mrs. Eldridge and two daughters live at Belvidere.

Mrs. Booth Coming
To Cheer Prisoners

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—Mrs. Maud Ballington Booth, founder of a girls' home in this city and widely known throughout the United States as a philanthropist, will arrive in San Francisco Saturday. She comes from Los Angeles, where she has been holding large and successful meetings.

Mrs. Booth will speak to the prisoners at San Quentin tomorrow afternoon. In the evening she will speak at the First Presbyterian Church, in the Ness Avenue. She will conduct a meeting at Calvary Presbyterian Church Tuesday evening. On this occasion the theme of the meeting will be the Maud Ballington Booth Home for Girls in this city.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

A LINIMENT FOR EXTERNAL USE.

One of the most valuable qualities of Mother's Friend is that it safe-guards the future health of the mother. It is a liniment to be applied externally to the body, the use of which lubricates the muscles and tendons, softens the glands and ducts, prevents lumps forming in the breasts, and relieves the pain, nervousness, nausea, and other troubles from which so many expectant mothers suffer. When Mother's Friend is used regularly it fits and prepares the system for an easy and natural consummation of the term. Women who massage with this great liniment are always saved much suffering when baby comes, and recover more quickly, and without ill effects. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers.

LAST LICENSE FOR OAKLAND HOTEL

FAIR DAUGHTERS EN ROUTE WEST

Council Holding Back Final Permit for the $2,000,000 Hotel.

The rumor that the City Council intends to increase the number of saloon licenses now existing in Great Oakland hotel has been emphatically denied by Councilman A. F. Steffens.

He says that the last saloon license given by the Council to grant is being held for the new Oakland hotel. The maximum number of saloon licenses permitted by the law at present in Greater Oakland is 389, of which 360 have been issued. The last one will be issued only to the hotel, and will be issued only after action by the management of the new hotel.

"There are forty-nine saloons in the annexed district," said Steffens, "and there will be no more there. These are the old ones three before annexation, and so long as they remain orderly they will be allowed to operate. No holder of a license in Oakdale proper will be permitted to move to the new district, and no licensee holder in the annexed district in the two districts must remain together."

SECRET OF FRIENDS.

The promise of absolute secrecy was demanded of her friends, and the servants in her entourage were not even told where the car was to be taken, so much did Mrs. Vanderbilt fear newspaper discussion about her destination to the Pacific Coast.

Among other things which Mrs. Vanderbilt is known to be concerned about, and which is bringing her to the West, is the disposition of her city property in San Francisco. She has engaged a New York architect to draw plans for the erection of a handsome office building on her Montgomery street property, adjacent to the Mills building.

Mrs. Vanderbilt and Mrs. Oelrich will make the Fairmont Hotel, which Mrs. Oelrich owns, their home while in San Francisco. Agents for Mrs. Vanderbilt have arranged for one entire wing of the hotel for their use.

GREEK THEATER URGED BY WRITER

Suggestion to Build it in the Hills to the North of Lake Merritt.

Editor TRIBUNE—The plan of making Oakland a great convention city by building a large convention or public assembly hall, thus affording the means of entertaining a large number of delegates running up into many thousands, is certainly a worthy project. The Denver plan worked well for Denver, and would work well for Oakland.

But there is one other method of accomplishing the same result that surpasses the Denver plan as the splendor of the midday sun surpasses the glory of the moon floating in a starry sky.

It is this: Let Oakland build a huge Greek theater. No city has ever been devised of accommodating a very large assemblage of men equal to the Greek theater.

Devised by the Greeks, to whose society the theater was a necessity, it was copied by the Romans who are said to have built one such structure capable of containing 80,000 spectators.

IDEAL CLIMATE.
Oakland's climate is ideal for the use of the Greek theater, and Berkeley has proved this beyond question. Berkeley will long be straitened for some means of accommodating the huge crowds of the University graduation and other occasions. The general idea of the California millionaire is to have here the famous Greek theater. But Berkeley's structure is already too small.

Let Oakland build the largest Greek theater in modern times, and the hills north and east of Lake Merritt are some fine natural contours of hills adapted by nature to this purpose.

In no other way could the result be so perfectly accomplished as no modern structure equals the magnificent outdoor Greek theater. In no other way could Oakland's unsurpassed equability and mildness of climate be so effectively shown to the world. As a booster slogan it is unsurpassed.

Let Oakland have the greatest Greek theater of modern times and make this the most popular convention city of the country.

California Wines Seized by Marshal

BARRE, Vt., March 5.—Three carloads of wines and other liquors alleged to have been shipped from California in violation of the federal law regarding interstate liquor shipment have been seized here by a United States marshal and will figure in a test case which will be heard in the United States court at Rutland.

The new law provides that the outside of packages containing intoxicants shall be marked with the shipper's name and the nature of the contents. The liquor seized was contained in cans bearing only the name of the shipper, but the individual packages in the car were consigned to various persons here.

Tenor Caruso Fears Black Hand Threats

NEW YORK, March 5.—Enrico Caruso, the tenor, has received two "black hand" letters demanding $15,000 or his life. There is no record of any threats against him before, but he is afraid to go to the opera again. Caruso is convinced that his days are numbered, and he will not venture out of his room without a bodyguard.

This first letter instructed Caruso to put the contents of his pockets strew along Broadway and give it to the first man who asked him for a letter. Caruso took the walk, with two detectives behind him. Evidently the writer followed him immediately, and sent a second letter saying: "When you went out yesterday you had two policemen with you. Do not try to fool us again. We mean business."

TRAINED SHETLAND REBUTS EVIDENCE GIVEN BY OWNER

CHICAGO, March 5.—"Harry," a 9-year-old Shetland pony, appeared before Municipal Judge Cleland yesterday as a witness for its owner, proprietor of a dog and pony circus, who is being sued for $1,000 damages by former employee who alleges that the pony kicked and injured him.

The animal was taken into the courtroom to show the jury that it was gentle and would not kick unless annoyed.

The pony remained gentle and quiet for the elevation until it started upward, and then it required the combined efforts of four or a dozen men to keep the animal from kicking the sides out of the car.

FAIR DAUGHTERS EN ROUTE WEST

Mesdames Vanderbilt and Oelrichs Will Spend Season in the State.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, accompanied by Mrs. Herman Oelrichs, her three children and a large staff of servants, are enroute to San Francisco to spend their spring outing.

The most painstaking plans to keep her destination a secret have been mapped out, as Mrs. Vanderbilt, whose name has figured conspicuously in the headlines in connection with the rumored divorce from her husband, desired to escape further publicity of this sort.

SECRET OF FRIENDS.

The promise of absolute secrecy was demanded of her friends, and the servants in her entourage were not even told where the car was to be taken, so much did Mrs. Vanderbilt fear newspaper discussion about her destination to the Pacific Coast.

Among other things which Mrs. Vanderbilt is known to be concerned about, and which is bringing her to the West, is the disposition of her city property in San Francisco.

THE MEDDLER

MISS VARINA MORROW, who will wed Ralph Merritt in June. —Maurer, Photo.

THE women of the Pacific Coast have a distinct grievance, and one wishes their hearty protests much of the good that is really done could find echoes on the other side of the Rockies and be heard in the heart of New York and Boston. Their special complaint concerns the Western woman in literature. She is almost always represented as being extremely crude, with not very good manners, lacking the innate, subtle refinement of the women of the smart sets of the Eastern cities. And if great wealth has come her way, it is all the worse for her. Then must she pose as a living example of the newly rich, a social climber, impossible in many ways.

Of course America has examples everywhere of the latter type; she is by no means peculiar to the Far West, though one finds her more often getting in her best work where the walls that surround an exclusive smart set are harder to scale.

No one denies that in every city there are the few who are spoiled with a sudden rush of prosperity. It goes to their heads. And sudden wealth is attended with strange results. It makes the woman who used to be fairly good-hearted forgetful of old friends. It gives her an exaggerated idea of her own importance. She concentrates all her energies in the social heights which she must climb, in whose summit is serene bliss.

She becomes that most detestable of women—"a social snob." But no one takes her seriously. If there is any special thought for her, one is perhaps rather sorry, for the new friends, bought with the new gold, are never worth while, and as for her entertainments, they never represent true hospitality. It is a pity sometimes that she cannot hear the real comments upon them. One can safely leave the social snob to her day of reckoning, for one knows it awaits her. And the keenest punishment that lies down the futures is the loss of the old friends, whose true friendship might have dignified a wasted life.

But that type of woman is not by any means the rule—she is the exception. There is another type, of whom Doctor Van Dyke, a gentleman and a scholar, writes:

"There are families in which inherited wealth, moderate or great, has opened the way to culture and refinement, and others in which newly acquired wealth has been used with generosity and dignity."

That is a fine sentence and fully illustrates much that is characteristic

CHANGES IN THE CLUBS.

With the coming of the springtime come also the many changes in the directorate of the leading clubs. The new officers for the year are being nominated and in many cases they have already been elected.

The Claremont Country Club leads the way, and its president for the coming year is to be Mr. Sam Bell McKee, one of the most popular members of the club. One needs to be popular, to be well liked by one's fellow members, if one is to be a successful president, and Mr. McKee brings many qualifications to his new office.

He is an exceptionally good presiding officer, and one of the best after-dinner speakers in the city.

In fact, Mr. McKee, Robert Fitzgerald and Mr. Hotalling are among the best extemporaneous speakers on the coast, and many of our younger men are bright of intellect, making a club dinner an altogether bright and merry affair.

A good story, illustrative to a degree, has been going the rounds, taken from a book recently issued by a leading university professor. He was invited to a famous dinner in New York, but he did not see deeply apreciative of the honor conferred on him. Next day the chairman of the dinner meeting him said:

"Do you know that we dined last night with thirty millions of dollars?" "Yes," said the university man, "and we had conversation to the amount of thirty cents!"

We may not often dine with millions of dollars, but if one dines with some of our leading young lawyers, or prominent men of affairs here, the conversation will drift to matters very well worth while.

One can trust Mr. McKee to push upwards always the standards of the girl, who knew how to make friends gele, making the trip in their motor and to keep them. The Younghs said car.

"Rosecrest," as business interests are called, Mr. Young's continued residence in the Islands and much to the regret of many Oakland men's they make the return to Horner for the car long distances without one. Most part, Californians who come their way are most sure of the heart beat of welcome and in the past many Oakland people have been most hospitably entertained in the Bay Island home of the Younghs. Among people now a days are walking for the genuine love of the exercise and were Mrs. George Jensen (Anita Oliver) and Mrs. Paul Dinsmore Maritta Havens.

Mr. Alexander Young represents the finest type of American—the man brave enough to push out onto the distant islands and by hard work and intelligent industry wrest a fortune from the surrounding conditions. He was a leader in the fight for freedom in Hawaii, and was one of the men who helped to float the American flag over the city of Honolulu. Mr. Young has had an eventful life. It has been a successful one and much of its success was due to the happy standards and the family affections which centered around the dear mother of the household—Mrs. Alexander Young.

The cards from the distant Islands bring us invitations to the golden wedding. We were welcome ones and in response good wishes and happy congratulations will wing their way to the Younghs in their island home.

GOLFERS ACHIEVING SCORES AT CLUB

The spring has come early this year and quite before we have known it the trees have put on the new tender leaves with the vivid green which marks the springtime. The great out-of-door world calls every one and one meets one's friends here and there in motor cars or riding walking golfing. Among the golfers who are achieving scores at the Country Club which astonish their friends are Mrs. T. C. Coogan and Mr. Lippman. Much to the joy of their friends they recently played a match game for a silver cup presented by a member of the Country Club. The match game created almost as much interest as the recent Burlingame walking match. It was a very close-contested game, and the cup was finally won by Mr. Lippman.

They are playing another match in San Francisco is of much interest to me however and Mr. Coogan is in the lead much to his joy and the progress of this match game is one of the interesting phases of life at the Country Club.

With the coming of the spring days long motor trips are being planned. Many years here and had one of the representative homes in our city. The H. M. A. Millers are now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. D. H. McNease and their daughter, Miss Mollie Mathes.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Burnham are leaving this coming week for Los Angeles. The engagement of Miss Holt and

Mr. McKay was announced at a dinner given this week by Mr. and Mrs. Parker Holt in their San Francisco home.

Miss Edith Holt is an exceedingly attractive girl very pretty indeed with sweet, well bred ways. The Misses Grace and Edith Holt have not lived in Oakland for some years now.

They spent many months in traveling abroad and since their return from Europe business interests kept them in Stockton and they built a most attractive country home at Mountain View near San Jose.

While the Holts have not lived here for some time they have many intimate friends of school days who entertain them often over here and the encouragement is an announcement of much interest to the many friends of the Holt family.

One often sees Mrs. William G. Heron walking from Powelton to the Hotel Club or from Vernon Heights to East Oakland. She has learned to be an exceptionally good walker and comes a long distance in very good spirits.

Miss Max Coogan is also a fine walker and it is a very easy task for her to walk from her Linda Vista home to town.

Mr. J. F. Carlson and Mr. Walter Belmont are among the well-known men who take their recreation by means of long rides in the country and springtime along country roads always brings a bright message to those that buy business cares.

William Letts Oliver is fond of the sea and he has the most perfectly equipped private yacht to be found in the San Francisco harbor.

We are coming to realize the Easterners dream of California—that it means life out of doors and that means something very close to the simple life which marks the ideal way of keeping up with the day's work.

MRS. E. C. FARNHAM TO GO AWAY

Mrs. E. C. Farnham with Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Kroll are planning an extended trip away this year. They are to go to the Grand Canyon of the Colorado and to San Diego before returning to California.

No date has been set for the wedding, but it will probably be a notable social date of the summer.

MRS. C. C. CLAY AT RIVERSIDE

Mrs. C. C. Clay and Miss Madeline Clay have closed their home, "Level Lee," in Fruitvale and are now at Riverside in Southern California.

Mrs. Phillip Clay and her children have spent the winter there and will return to Oakland late in the spring.

MRS. THOMAS OLNEY GIVING A TEA

Many of the social dates of the week are of more than the usual degree of interest, since they represent for the most part gatherings of young matrons who have been friends since early school days. Friendships begun in the kindergarten have a foundation that makes them dear to one's heart and the friendships one forms in later life, in new associations are never quite like them.

Mrs. Thomas Olney (Caroline Selby) was one of the hostesses of the week, entertaining at an informal tea in honor of Mrs. Nelson Coffman (Margaret Knight).

Eleven years ago the Selbys and Knights were near neighbors on Madison street, and the young girls of both families spent high school days together.

Mrs. Selby and the Misses Edith and Florence Selby are spending the winter in New York and Arthur Selby is in one of the New England preparatory schools. The Thomas Olneys have an exceedingly attractive home on McClure street, and Mrs. Olney's tea was most informal including school time friends of the guest of honor. Mrs. Olney is also planning an afternoon at bridge, in honor of Mrs. George Doubleday of New York.

Mrs. Doubleday, who was charming Alice Moffitt, is so very popular that social dates in her honor might extend all through the spring if she could find time for them. She was one of the most popular young girls of her high school days. Indeed there was a trio of girls, very bright, and pretty, and attractive—Miss Marguerite Jolliffe, Lillian Moffitt and Alice Moffitt. They had very good times together and were very popular girls.

The Doubledays have a delightful home in New York and Mrs. Doubleday shares it in cordial fashion and most generously with her California friends who come to the great city.

Mrs. Doubleday is very happy in New York where her husband is most successful and developing large business interests, but she loves California, and as a result her old time California friendships shine out brightly in her life. No wonder her friends give her a welcome home worth while.

Mrs. Doubleday has been the guest this week of Doctor and Mrs. Herbert Moffitt (Marguerite Jolliffe), who entertained for her in their home across the bay.

Mrs. Wallace Alexander and Mrs. Doubleday have been friends for many years.

LENTEN DAYS MOVE ON

The Lenten days move on each bringing with it some special degree of interest. While there are no large dates, the smaller social dates are of more than the usual degree of interest. The Frank Proctors (Flora MacDermot) who have been spending the winter at the family home here are among the most frequent hosts of the season. They entertain a great deal in San Francisco and Mrs. Proctor has been generous in entertaining her friends here. She has sent out cards to about twenty of her young friends asking them to a "Bairn Party," and planning to entertain them at the MacDermot home on Eighth street.

A baby party is really the funniest kind of a play—and the fatter you are the taller you are, the more amusing baby you represent. Shrieks of laughter greet one's first visions of one's friends in the role of the baby of the hour and a baby party represents more opportunity for real fun than almost any other social event.

NEWMAN CLUB TO ENTERTAIN

Interesting cards are being received by many prominent families this week bearing the announcement of one of the largest social events of the season.

The Newman Club of the University of California cordially invites you to meet

The Most Reverend Archbishop Riordan at the opening of Newman Hall Tuesday evening, March fifteenth, nineteen hundred and ten at eight o'clock.

Ridge Road Berkeley

It represents one of the largest receptions of the season planned on this side of the bay. The Newman hall at Berkeley has just been completed, and is one of the most beautiful structures connected with the University, admirably planned and showing good architectural designs.

It is quite fitting that the opening of Newman Hall should also represent a very graceful compliment to Archbishop Riordan who has been in full sympathy with the many efforts of the Newman Club. One hears that many prominent people are coming to the reception from across the bay, and it will certainly represent the largest and most important social event of the late season.

COUNTRY HOMES ARE BEING OPENED

Many country homes are now being opened for the summer and even the busiest of men find time for the week end in the country. It is surprising how early people are leaving town this year, and early in April many prominent Oakland homes will be closed.

The F. M. Smiths with Miss Sperry, the James Allens, the Minor Gondalls, the Wallace Eversons, all leave Oakland early in April for New York and Europe.

The Henry Bothins (Nellie Chabot) have reopened their Ross Valley home and will spend the summer there. The H. M. A. Millers are also in Ross Valley, where they have a very attractive country place.

Oakland people do not for the most part care to cross the bay twice, and many of their country homes are in the Santa Cruz mountains.

Among the country homes to be opened early this year are those of E.

MRS. HAROLD DRAY PERRY, a prominent young matron of the Alameda smart set.

—Stewart, Photo

The wedding will take place in April. Miss Fisk is a tall blonde of exquisite coloring.

Miss Varina Morrow is the charming fiancee of Ralph Merritt, athletic manager of the University of California, upon whose shoulders has fallen much responsibility during the absence of President Wheeler in Europe, Merritt being Dr. Wheeler's secretary.

Miss Morrow is a prominent sorority girl and since her graduation from the university has occupied an enviable position in the society of the college town. She is a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma and a graduate of the university with the class of 1905. She was secretary of the University Y. W. C. A., a member of the Fryeane Society and on the staff of the Bliss and Gold, and has been prominent in settlement work. Recently she returned from an Eastern trip. She is the daughter of the late J. H. Morrow.

Miss Alice Edgren is a member of the younger set, who has recently returned from a year of art study in New York, where her work was commended by eminent artists. She graduated from the Berkeley School of Arts and Crafts with honors and immediately continued her success in the East. She comes of a literary family, two of her brothers having achieved eminence in the journalistic world. Since her return she has been extensively feted.

Miss Harold Dray Perry is the daughter-in-law of Mrs. George Perry, a social leader of Alameda, and is one of the charming matrons of the encinal city. She frequently entertains at her attractive home.

LENTEN A QUIET SEASON.

A spirit of Lenten quiet seems to have settled over San Francisco and things social are less active than they have been since last summer. There is a great deal of informal entertaining, but no one seems disposed to give large affairs and the probability is that there will be no more big affairs until next fall. A great deal of shopping is going on and the stores and dressmaking establishments are crowded with women already preparing for the summer exodus. The milliners windows have begun to fill with a pleasing assortment of smart spring hats and already one sees quite a number on the streets. Many smart women are going to Coronado for polo week, which will dispose nicely of the middle and later weeks of Lent. Among those planning to go are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Foster Dutson, Miss Jennie Blair, Mrs. Harry Holbrook, Mrs. Alice

LINA HAS NOT YET DECIDED

Says Chanler Has Asked Her to Wed Him and She Is Thinking It Over.

WASHINGTON.—"I do not know" said Mrs. Lina Cavalier, Sunday night when asked by a reporter if she was going to marry Robert Whipple Chanler, millionaire grandson of John Jacob Astor.

"Yes, Mr. Chanler asked me," she continued in rapid French. "He asked me one beautiful day in the park in an automobile three weeks ago. But three weeks is a very short time to decide about one's lifetime. And I have not yet decided."

"Mr. Chanler is very nice, very kind, very good. I like him as much as any man I know. He is very rich, too, and that is a nice thing. The money a man has is part of him, nest-egg, pass."

Though, of course, with me it makes no

so much difference as with some poor girl who can not sing money as I can.

"And Mr. Chanler paints beautiful pictures. He says he will paint me in a crimson velvet robe with all my jewels. I should like to have Mr. Chanler do that, but I do not know whether I should like to have him marry me."

"It is very pleasant the way it is. I drive with Mr. Chanler, I dine with Mr. Chanler. I sing to Mr. Chanler, I dance with Mr. Chanler. Others, too, of course, but not with Mr. Chanler. That would be not be satisfied." Why can't I not be glad to always care for me and not for marriage? But it's an ugly word. All the married people I know, are unhappy. And it is so stupid to marry and spend all the time and money getting a divorce when you see you have been married."

"He is a nice man and I am honored, but I don't know yet."

New York Suffragists Will Wage War

NEW YORK, March 5.—Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch, who arrived here from Albany last night, says that if the bill which has passed the Assembly, becomes a law, it will provoke American suffragists to open militancy in imitation of their British sisters.

"Her argument is this: Mrs. Blatch, "there has been no reason for suffragists in America to use militant methods, but a bill like this will be a torch to a haystack."

The Dana Bill provides that when the legislature sits in semi-adjournment to the constitution there shall be a two-thirds vote instead of a majority as at present. This, it is thought, would lessen the chances of woman's suffrage movement.

Handsome Nieces of King Edward of England

Latest photograph of Princesses Alexandra and Maude of Fife, nieces of King Edward of England and the two most eligible princesses in the European matrimonial market. Not long since it was rumored that Princess Alexandra was engaged to the young King of Portugal and it was expected that during the young King's recent visit to England that a formal announcement would be made of the betrothal, but much to the surprise of the court gossip the King returned to Portugal heart whole. In appearance Princess Alexandra is greatly like her grandmother, having the same clear skin and soft blue eyes. Princess Maude is pretty, of medium height, with an oval face, small features, a sweet smile. This young Princess has in the strictest sense received a home education, for she has been trained by her parents and has not had even a resident governess.

Her Home Burned She Lodges in The Henhouse

Mrs. Evelyn Wentworth Murray, who formerly lived in a fine residence on the Raritan river, near Somerville, N. J., now lives in a chicken house near the site of her once handsome home.

Mrs. Murray's change of residence has not been brought about by any marked depreciation in her wealth, but by an unfortunate series of fires, which have totally destroyed four fine houses during the past few years, and left her nothing but the chicken house to live in. Her estate was formerly the homestead farm of the late Frederick Frelinghuysen, Secretary of State in President Arthur's administration.

Mrs. Murray was burned out the third time Monday night when her bungalow and the one remaining tenant house were destroyed. She could get in her big touring car, drive to Somerville and find comfortable quarters at a first-class hotel or she could find shelter in the home of her neighbor, James E. Duke, whose summer home is now occupied only by servants, but for reasons best known to herself, Mrs. Murray prefers to lodge in the chicken house and is determined not to desert the place she loves as long as there is a building left on it.

Mrs. Murray is a prominent member of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and she has frequently figured in the courts of New York city as complainant against brutal teamsters.

friends to meet Miss Greene on Thursday

FOR THE MEDDLER.

WASHINGTON.—"American men are too much engrossed in business and money-making to win or hold the affections of American girls. They talk of little else, and American girls educated as they are today, are not interested in Wall street, the stock exchange, or the markets. It seems to me that this is one reason why so many American girls marry foreigners."

This is the opinion of M. Henri de Siney, himself a foreigner, who Wednesday married an American girl—Miss Marie Louise Logan, in New York. When asked for his views on why foreigners are favored suitors of American girls, he thought it over for a few minutes, meditatively twirling his heavy gold ring.

The usual conditions of a poor husband and a rich bride are reversed in the case of M. de Siney and Miss Logan. Her family is in moderate circumstances,

WEDDING OF THE MEDDLER.

Finds American Girl Is His IDOL AMONG WOMEN

white M. de Siney's father is the owner of the largest zinc interests in the world. The son has a princely allowance, is to be taken into his father's business, and eventually will inherit many millions. His father, who attended the wedding in the lady chapel of St. Patrick's cathedral, thoroughly approves of his son's choice of a wife.

M. de Siney is tall—well over 6 feet—and of distinguished appearance. He speaks English fluently, having received part of his education at Oxford.

"I have found the American girl my ideal among women; she is clever, intelligent and wonderfully well educated," continued M. de Siney. "She has remarkable tact—so much more than your men, and she adores art, music and the languages—languages which seem largely to be hers here. The men, you see, think that money and business are the most important factors in life. I have observed that one of the most distinct differences between the foreign man and the American is that the foreigner puts away thoughts and discussions of business when he goes into his evening clothes. It matters little to an American man whether he is in a sack suit, frock coat, or dinner attire or in his office, on a yacht or at a fashionable dinner table the uppermost topic of conversation with him is the continuation of his day's business.

"He forces ahead to the women at his right and left, or to as many as he can get to listen; and does he talk of art, music, the opera, painting? Indeed nothing is said in wheat or some depression in the market."

"Now, tell me frankly—you're a woman," continued this bridge-man, "do your wonderfully educated girls—girls with really remarkable understanding of music and books and art—earn a fair about these abstruse business affairs? Nothing, I would say; for their conversations, as I have found them, are of entirely different matters, and I have seen many a pretty young miss look as bored as a seasoned belle at a dinner because some tactless man insists upon continuing his business life into a social affair."

"The American men should take more interest in the ethical sides of life, else the American girl should be differently trained. The latter would be indeed, a tragedy, for, to my mind, the American girl of today surpasses the women of any period in history. They are the embodiment of grace, physical beauty and mental attainments. In other words, it is up to the American men to keep the American girls married in their own country."

Among Miss Logan's wedding presents is a magnificent stomacher of brilliants from her mother. It is triangular in shape, and can be separated and worn as a brooch, a pendant and a head ornament. Her mother also sent a fillet of diamonds and pearls. These two gifts are valued at $20,000.

*Women in News TodayMRS. ASTOR ENTERS FINAL DEGREE OF DIVORCE*Father Given Custody of Son and Daughter Is Awarded to Wife.*DEFENDANT BARRED FROM REMARRIAGE*Amount of Money Settled Upon Plaintiff Is Not Set Forth.*NEW YORK March 5—Reported the signature that made final took the letters of divorce previously given Mrs. Ava Willing Astor from her late husband Colonel John Jacob Astor junior Isaac Mills at White Plains wrote this.

The court of Dutchess county is expected not to seal the above final judgment.

The decree however as filed tonight at Poughkeepsie the courts seat was little known that had not been foreseen in popular estimate. There appear the bold statement that the marriage is dissolved by reason of the statutory offense on the part of the defendant but no money settlement is mentioned the name of the respondent is not given among the two statements taken in the decree is vague—stating but the decree itself.

May Not Remarry

The plaintiff may remarry but not the defendant. Captain William W. Astor senior son is given to the truth with the proviso that the mother may see him when she wishes and is allowed the discharge. Also Miss Moore is assured the mother with provisions that the father may see her at all reasonable times.

The understanding is that a settlement of all money matters was arrived at before the decree was signed and it is probable that the exact amount showed Mrs. Astor will never be known.

It has not been the policy of the Astor estate to allow money to go out of the family. Therefore it seemed likely that the sum which had been settled on her but it is probable she will enjoy a stipulated income during her life or as long as she remains single.

Astor Man of Millions

Colonel Astor is one of the richest men in the United States and the Astor estate is one of the largest holders of realty in the world. It has been reported on the part of Mrs. Astor that it reaches $10,000,000 currently and on the other that she will get the comparatively modest allowance of $5,000 a year.

The unusual interval between the granting of the interlocutory decree and the filing of application for a final judgment led to the report that there was haggling over the exact sum to be awarded and that is generally believed that the $5,000 is more than the truth than $1,000.

Smith whose name figured with an alleged attempt to smuggle Japanese silk wearing apparel through the San Francisco custom house filed for proceedings here today against Captain James W. Smith a surgeon in the U.S. Navy who is traveling in Europe.RICHMOND IN THROES OF MUNICIPAL CIVIL WAR*East Siders and West Siders Up in Arms and Recalls Are Plentiful in Promise

RICHMOND March 5—Stripped of all flills and flowered statements the recall movement in Richmond is simply the old fight breaking out again between the two sides of the bay. The east side is growing with inner life sp. 1 and the politicians of that side feel that with the ingrowing weight they can outlast the older west side and dominate the city.

The old press who has always been opposed to the outcome of the first election under the new charter of May 1st. The same councilmen were elected with an unusual appointment from each side and one from the same district which is between the two.
The east side was to mark factions by the name of champion for after the west side was sold and divided. The east side was confident that it could hold
the city and put its slate
forward to its opponents others.

West Side Wins

As usual its representatives fell down in the advice and Owen of the east side who was to be mayor to thirteen elected nothing and Willis of the west side was placed in the chair.
The west side placed the most of the populace of Richmond giving the east side
a lead which is between them. This was accomplished by Dickey's forcing a section which he was supposed to represent
and joining the west side forces.
The settlers now are still Owens who failed to connect and Follett and Ladd who whom the claim has not been knocked to the east side. They had fault with their own representatives rather than with those of the west side.

East Siders Ranked

In a sort of the election and appointments has been since ranked in the larts of the east sides. The street of small held last fall in honor of the Prize Fight Figures

Still more recently the council appropriated $8000 for the building of a new house for No. 1 on the west side and No. 2 objected vigorously. In the preparations for the Nelson Wolast fight
the city officials expended considerable money in constructing streets leading to the fight arena. These last two actions made the base of complaint in the recall. It is only an excuse for war. The east sides feel strengthened by the church forces which are bitter at the council for allowing the fight. Fighting all the people who have grievances of any kind to their standard the east sides
hope to rule. The majority of the council and the west sides are sounding the call to arms and this morning the east side residents are promised victory.

Possessing the largest taxpayer
interests in the city the Standard Oil Company has exercised a strong influence in the City Council and its officials will not allow the power of rushing the city funds to pass into the hands of the turbulent east sides ever fighting others and among themselves.

MAYOR NOY IN FAVOR OF BAY CITIES WATER

Promise of Fire Protection
Alone Appeals to Members of Council.

ALAMEDA, March 5—Residents
throughout the city are expressing interest
in the Tevis project to supply Alameda
with pure mountain water from sources in the coast range and many have already signified their intention of
signing the contract which will be circulated in the city the latter part of next week.

L. Dickey assistant manager of the Oakland offices of the Bay Cities Water
company announced today that President Tevis and Engineer C. E. Gilman were
in consultation with the attorneys of the company in San Francisco devising a form of contract to be submitted to the residents of Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda
within a week's time.

The heads of the Bay Cities Water
company are giving much time and at
attention to the wording of these contracts
in order that they may present specific
terms to the people in the simplest form
possible to prevent any misunderstanding
of terms or intentions on the part of the company.

MAYOR IN FAVOR OF IT.

Major W. H. Noy who has expressed himself as strongly in favor of the new
water supply and of the proposition offered
to the city of Alameda to purchase
a distributing system from the Bay Cities
company was asked today whether he would use
his influence to secure contracts for the new company.

He said:

"I want the pure water that President
Tevis says he can furnish this city and I would gladly aid him in procuring contracts if I were not Mayor of the city
but my course of action will be subject to
what the city council desires."

"The nine members of this board have
stated that they were satisfied that Tevis
could give us good water and have pledged their support to him, but it is up to them whether any pressure shall
be brought to bear on the people of the city. We want the water that is all I can say."

No added that he had made an investigation of the Tevis proposition and
was assured that it would be to the interests of Alameda to contract for the new supply.

FIRE PROTECTION APPEALS

The promise of the Bay Cities Water Company to furnish the factories on the
water front with protection from fire
and to install 4 or 5 inch mains
throughout the city has appealed to the city council which has been trying to procure both of these improvements from
the Peoples Water Company but which
had never promised until last Tuesday night when President F. K. Leach
of the Peoples Water Company and Engineer Wilhelm met in conference with
the mayor and council.

A partial agreement was reached at
this time to afford the warehouses and factories protection. If their owners
would stand half of the expense and to replace the 2 inch mains with 4-inch pipes.

OPPOSES 8-INCH MAIN

The proposition of installing an 8-inch
main on Webster street to supply the
factories with water in case of fire was discussed but Chief Fred Krauth of the
fire department is opposed to the 8-
inch main and gives as his opinion that
the great consumption of water by the
resident and factory districts of Webster
street would materially lessen the pressure in the city proper.

The task that confronts the Peoples
Water Company is to furnish Alameda
with an adequate supply which the city
officials told President Trivis had not
been done in the past.

With the capacity of the Peoples Water Company it may not be possible to give
fire protection to the factories and at the same time furnish the city with a
adequate amount of pressure.

FAVORS PLAYGROUNDS.

Toil Scores More Victims Than Play

INDIANAPOLIS, March 5—We hear about the terrible ravages of death among those who enjoy themselves. They call it the result of the disease of
but the diseases of work kill their hundreds and thousands while only hundreds succumb to the diseases of play—
even including wise women and sons!

in his final conference on public school hygiene and physical culture in the convention of the National Educational Association.

A Stotcher director of physical training in the Philadelphia public schools, says baseball should be an important part in the education of school children.

A resolution addressed to the directors of the Chamber of Commerce last night,
there was born a new committee—The Newcomers Committee. W. V. Wann,
well known for his hospitality and winsome smile, will head the committee and his duties will be peculiar. He will be on the lookout continually for visitors to the city and will treat as a sort of old fame a welcome agent. Scott Wann is now well known to boost and he has rusted to fulfill his part to the best of his ability.

This was but a part of what took place at the first meeting of the committee since its reorganization and the election of its new president Claude C.
Craig. The feature of the evening was the discussion as to ways and means regarding the building of the new municipal convention hall. The subject was a big one.

UNIQUE METHODS

In matters of this kind the committee has an over-ambitious and ornamental way of working. Each member is expected to find some objectionable phase to the proposition and back and forth the arguments fly with countless suggestions which finally mean the dissolution of the position. In this manner the members are particularly forced to meet and are in opposition in the aural campaign.

WELL SUPPLIED ALREADY

Of course Senator Aldrich is opposed to any river appropriation. Rhode Island already has more water than it needs—

Many of Those Living in the Encinal City Ready to

MAYOR NOY IN FAVOR OF BAY CITIES WATER

Promise of Fire Protection
Alone Appeals to Members of Council.

ALAMEDA, March 5—Residents
throughout the city are expressing interest
in the Tevis project to supply Alameda
with pure mountain water from sources in the coast range and many
have already signified their intention of
signing the contract which will be circulated in the city the latter part of next
week.

L. Dickey assistant manager of the Oakland offices of the Bay Cities Water
company announced today that President
Tevis and Engineer C. E. Gilman were
in consultation with the attorneys of the
company in San Francisco devising a
form of contract to be submitted to the
residents of Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda
within a week's time.

ALAMEDA

The heads of the Bay Cities Water
company are giving much time and at
attention to the wording of these contracts
in order that they may present specific
terms to the people in the simplest form
possible to prevent any misunderstanding
of terms or intentions on the part of the company.

MAYOR IN FAVOR OF IT.

Major W. H. Noy who has expressed
himself as strongly in favor of the new
water supply and of the proposition offered
to the city of Alameda to purchase
a distributing system from the Bay Cities
company was asked today whether he would use
his influence to secure contracts for the
new company.

He said:

"I want the pure water that President
Tevis says he can furnish this city and I would gladly aid him in procuring con-
tracts if I were not Mayor of the city
but my course of action will be subject to
what the city council desires."

"The nine members of this board have
stated that they were satisfied that Tevis
could give us good water and have
pledged their support to him, but it is
up to them whether any pressure shall
be brought to bear on the people of the city. We want the water that is all I can say."

MAYOR IN FAVOR OF IT.

No added that he had made an investigation of the Tevis proposition and
was assured that it would be to the interests of Alameda to contract for the
new supply.

FIRE PROTECTION APPEALS

The promise of the Bay Cities Water Company to furnish the factories on the
water front with protection from fire
and to install 4 or 5 inch mains
throughout the city has appealed to the
city council which has been trying to
procure both of these improvements from
the Peoples Water Company but which
had never promised until last Tuesday night when President F. K. Leach
of the Peoples Water Company and Engineer Wilhelm met in conference with
the mayor and council.

A partial agreement was reached at
this time to afford the warehouses and
factories protection. If their owners
would stand half of the expense and to replace the 2 inch mains with 4-inch
pipes.

OPPOSES 8-INCH MAIN

The proposition of installing an 8-inch
main on Webster street to supply the
factories with water in case of fire was
discussed but Chief Fred Krauth of the
fire department is opposed to the 8-
inch main and gives as his opinion that
the great consumption of water by the
resident and factory districts of Webster
street would materially lessen the pressure in the city proper.

The task that confronts the Peoples
Water Company is to furnish Alameda
with an adequate supply which the city
officials told President Trivis had not
been done in the past.

With the capacity of the Peoples Water
Company it may not be possible to give
fire protection to the factories and at the
same time furnish the city with a
adequate amount of pressure.

The following resolution was passed

Greater Oakland hold a meeting at Old Masonic hall, Fruitvale last night and transacted the

LEAGUERS AGAINST RUSH BUILDING OF ELECTRIC LINE

Southern Pacific Has 250 Men on the System in Alameda.

Berkeley Anti-Annexationists Flood City With Frantic Appeals.

CONFUSING VISIONS OF WILD BOGIE MAN

West, South and the Central Sections Favor Joining Oakland.

BERKELEY March 5—An amendment is expressed on the street corners at the sudden flip flop of the City and County League standing for some form of union of adjoining bay cities is still in being, without wounding the fighting spirit of those who voted to fight annexation on a state wide basis.

The electric cars are expected to be in operation here by the first of July. A week's carnival is being planned by the city officials and merchants to celebrate the big event which is expected to open a new era in the history of Alameda.

A rumor went through the city a few days ago that the gangs had been taken off the work at the east end of the city until transferred to Berkeley, but the work on this portion of the road was only stopped pending the outcome of litigation with George Hilton, a property owner which has now been settled.

The rock ballasting of the tracks is the principal work now being done. Most of the trolley poles to hold the wires have been installed around the loop and in Eighth street where a branch line will cross into Oakland with a terminus at Fourteenth and Franklin streets.

This is the time to go to the telephone and telegraph depots and the railroad bridge over the tidal canal building new trackage to connect with the new tracks on this side of the bridge.

The general plan of electrification together with the location of the power house on the canal calls for some new track and this work is now being done.

The steel skeleton of the power house frame has been erected and is being enclosed with brick and stone masonry.

Berkeley Society

BERKELEY March 5—The mid-spring fancy dress ball given Thursday evening by Miss Dorothy Woodworth and Miss Florence Williams at the spacious home of the Woodforths on the corner of Prospect street and Channing way was one of the most delightful affairs ever given by the members of the younger set this season.

The costumes worn by the merry-makers who took advantage of the mild winter dispensed to cast aside the restraints imposed by the church upon society at this time of the year were strikingly beautiful and effective and the debutantes and their escorts made the most of the occasion their revels lasting until a late hour.

The pictureque grounds about the house were gaily illuminated with Japanese lanterns and inviting little tables were arranged under the trees where delicious refreshments were served. Within music was provided and the dancing rooms were given over to the dancers.

Miss Woodworth and Miss Williams were attired as sunbonnet babies, the former in blue and the latter in pink and very fetching little damsels they were.

Miss Joy Wilson was stumping in a costume of red and white satin in which she impersonated Folly the addition of jingling bells being an effective touch to her dress. Four impetuous young ladies who produced considerable commotion were Miss Marjorie Page, Miss Lucy Harrison, Leo Roe and Dudley Lee. Miss Muriel Williams was a very coquettish and attractive merry widow and was attended by Andrew Cassell as the prince.

In yellow and black satin Miss Lois Crosby made an attractive Pierrette while Ralph McAdoo was a black and white costume of the same style. Miss Alice was represented as a gorgeous velveteen hirsanthemum. Miss Mary Davies was a very sweet flower girl. Miss Elizabeth Christie impersonated the faded beauty Madame Pompadour. Samuel Davis as a jester was dashing and his partner as a jester was a belle. The interesting oriental trio consisted of Frank Kent in celestial dress and the Misses Edith and Ruth Flack as native women of China and Japan respectively.

In addition to these more conspicuous characters there were a number of others and other attractive and amusing figures among the company.

Mendelsohn's Jorel was the feature of the musical evening and dance at Town and gown clubhouse this evening. This is one of a series arranged by a group of hostesses for the winter including preceded the chorus and supper and dancing followed. The chorus was rendered between 10 and 11 o'clock. The hostesses are Mrs. Charles B. Marks, Mrs. John G. Gloucester, Mrs. Lillian Bronzel, Mrs. George R. Creighton, Mrs. William Thompson, Mrs. Henry Fletcher and Mrs. William Dilby.

At the conclusion of each address a sum was donated to the club by the club.

Mrs. A. J. Sami will speak at the high school. Ellington are the other speakers. Porter school, Mrs. H. L. Eastman, High school, Mrs. M. F. McGinnis, Mastil school, Mrs. P. S. Teller, Longfellow school, Mrs. H. A. Hebard, Wilson school, Mrs. A. J. Burgner, Everett school, Mrs. George B. Purd.

The exercises will be held between the hours of 11 and 1 o'clock in the morning and the afternoon will be dedicated to the program.

Arbor Day has been set aside to commemmorate the birthday of Luther Burbank plant wizard.

It is observed all over the State.

The Adelphi Club originated the plan of commemorating Arbor Day in the parks under a new deal or the grounds in Foothills may be used. At present Alameda is without either team or diamond.
